1. Short title.—These rules may be cited as the "Indian Air Force Act Rules."

2. Definitions.—In these rules, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "Proper air force authority" when used in relation to any power, duty, act or matter, means such air force authority as, in pursuance of the Regulations for the Indian Air Force or the custom of the service, exercises or performs that power or duty or is concerned with that act or matter.

(b) "The Act" means the Indian Air Force Act, 1932.

4. Forms in Appendices.—(a) The forms set forth in the appendices to these rules, with such variations as the circumstances of each case require, may be used for the respective purposes therein mentioned, and if used shall be sufficient, but a deviation from such forms will not, by reason only of such deviation, render any charge, warrant, order, proceedings or other document invalid.

(b) An omission of any such form will not, by reason only of such omission, render any act or thing invalid.

(c) The notes to, and instructions in, the forms will be considered as instructions which it is expedient to follow in all cases to which such notes and instructions apply, but shall not have the force of rules.

5. Exercise of power vested in holder of air force appointment.—Any power or jurisdiction given to, and any act or thing to be done by, to, or before any person holding any air force appointment may be exercised by, or done by, to, or before any other person for the time being authorised in that behalf according to the custom of the service.

The authority competent to authorise such dismissal or discharge may, when authorising the dismissal or discharge, specify any future date from which it shall take effect: Provided that if no such date is specified the dismissal or discharge shall take effect from the date on which it was duly authorised, or from the date on which the person dismissed or discharged ceased to do air force duty, whichever is the later date.

Every case of a person being detained in custody beyond a period of forty-eight hours, and the reason thereof, shall be reported by the commanding officer to the officer to whom application would be made to convene a general or district court-martial for the trial of the person charged.

Provided that Sunday, Good Friday and Christmas day shall be excluded in reckoning the periods of forty-eight hours specified in this rule.

15. Disposal of the charge or adjournment for taking down the summary of evidence.—(a) Every charge against a person subject to the Act shall be heard in the presence of the accused. The accused shall have full liberty to cross-examine any witness against him, and to call any witnesses and make any statement in his defence.

may claim, either by notice to the authority convening the court, or, when arraigned before the court, by notice to the court to be tried separately, on the ground that the evidence of one or more of the other accused persons proposed to be tried together with him will be material to his defence: the convening authority or court, if satisfied that the evidence will be material, and if the nature of the charge admits of it, shall allow the claim, and such accused person shall be tried separately.

Exception from Rules.

32. Suspension of rules on the ground of the exigencies of the service or the necessities of discipline.—Where it appears to the officer convening a court-martial, or to the senior officer on the spot, that exigencies of the service or the necessities of discipline, render it impossible or inexpedient to observe any of the Rules 15 (d), (e), (f), (g), 16, 29 and 30, he may, by order under his hand, make a declaration to that effect specifying the nature of such exigencies or necessities, and thereupon the trial or other proceedings shall be as valid as if the rule mentioned in such declaration had not been contained herein; and the declaration may be made with respect to any or all of the rules above in this rule mentioned in the case of the same court-martial.

(b) The charges upon which the accused is arraigned shall be read and, if necessary, translated to him, and he shall be required to plead separately to each charge.

47. Objection by accused to charge.—The accused, when required to plead to any charge, may object to the charge on the ground that it does not disclose an offence under the Act or is not in accordance with these rules.

48. Amendment of charge.—(a) At any time during the trial, if it appears to the court that there is any mistake in the name or description of the accused in the charge-sheet, the court may amend the charge-sheet so as to correct that mistake.

(b) If on the trial of any charge it appears to the court at any time before they have begun to examine the witnesses, that in the interests of justice any addition to, omission from, or alteration in, the charge is required, they may report their opinion to the convening authority, and may adjourn, and the convening authority may either direct a new trial to be commenced, or amend the charge, and order the trial to proceed with such amended charge after due notice to the accused.

49. Special plea to the jurisdiction.—(a) The accused, before pleading to a charge, may offer a special plea to the general jurisdiction of the court; and if he does so, and the court consider that anything stated in such plea shows that the court have not jurisdiction, they shall receive any evidence offered in support, together with any evidence offered by the prosecutor in disproof or qualification thereof, and any address by the accused and reply by the prosecutor in reference thereto.

(b) If the court overrule the special plea, they shall proceed with the trial.

(c) If the court allow the special plea, they shall record their decision and the reasons for it, and report it to the convening authority and adjourn; such decision shall not require any confirmation, and the convening authority shall either forthwith convene another court for the trial of the accused, or order the accused to be released.

(d) If the court are in doubt as to the validity of the plea, they may refer the matter to the convening authority, and may adjourn for that purpose, or may record a special decision with respect to such plea, and proceed with the trial.

50. General plea "Guilty" or "Not guilty."—(a) If no special plea to the general jurisdiction of the court is offered, or if such plea being offered, is overruled, the accused person's plea—"Guilty" or "Not guilty" (or if he refuses to plead, or does not plead intelligibly either one or the other, a plea of "Not guilty")—shall be recorded on each charge.

(b) If an accused person pleads "Guilty," that plea shall be recorded as the finding of the court; but, before it is recorded, the officer conducting the proceedings, on behalf of the court, shall ascertain that the accused understands the nature of the charge to which he has pleaded guilty, and shall inform him of the general effect of that plea, and in particular of the meaning of the charge to which he has pleaded guilty, and of the difference in procedure which will be made by the plea of guilty, and shall advise him to withdraw that plea if it appears from the summary of evidence that the accused ought to plead not guilty.

51. Plea in bar.—(a) The accused, at the time of his general plea of "Guilty" or "Not guilty" to a charge for an offence, may offer a plea in bar of trial on the ground that—

(1) he has been previously convicted or acquitted of the offence by a competent criminal court or by a court-martial or has been dealt with summarily under section 25 of the Act for the offence; or

(2) the offence has been pardoned or condoned by competent air force authority; or

(3) the time which has elapsed between the commission of the offence and the beginning of the trial is more than three years, and the limit of time for trial is not extended under section 78 of the Act.

(b) If he offers such plea in bar, the court shall record it as well as his general plea, and if they consider that any fact or facts stated by him are sufficient to support the plea in bar they shall receive any evidence offered, and hear any address made by the accused and the prosecutor in reference to the plea.

(c) If the court find that the plea in bar is proved they shall record their finding, and notify it to the confirming authority, and shall either adjourn, or if there is any other charge against the accused, whether in the same or in a different charge-sheet, which is not affected by the plea in bar, may proceed with the trial of the accused on that charge.

(d) If the finding that the plea in bar is proved is not confirmed, the court may be re-assembled by the confirming authority, and proceed as if the plea had been found not proved.

(e) If the court find that the plea in bar is not proved, they shall proceed with the trial, and the said finding shall be subject to confirmation like any other finding of the court.

52. Procedure after plea of "Guilty."—(a) Upon the record of the plea of "Guilty," if there are other charges in the same charge-sheet to which the plea is "Not guilty" the trial shall first proceed with respect to those other charges, and, after the findings on those charges, shall proceed with the charges on which a plea of "Guilty" has been entered; but if they are alternative charges, the court may either proceed with respect to all the charges as if the accused had not pleaded "Guilty" to any charge, or may, instead of trying him, record a finding of "Not guilty" on each alternative charge to which the prisoner has not pleaded "Guilty."

(b) After the record of the plea of "Guilty" on a charge (if the trial does not proceed on any other charges) the court shall receive any statement which the accused desires to make in reference to the charge, and shall read the summary of evidence, and annex it to the proceedings, or if there is no such summary, shall take and record sufficient evidence to enable them to determine the sentence, and the confirming officer to know all the circumstances connected with the offence. This evidence will be taken in like manner as is directed by these Rules in the case of a plea of "Not guilty."

(c) After evidence has been so taken, or the summary of evidence has been read, as the case may be, the accused may make a statement in mitigation of punishment, and may call witnesses as to his character.

(d) If from the statement of the accused or from the summary of evidence, or otherwise, it appears to the court that the accused did not understand the effect of his plea of "Guilty" the court shall alter the record and enter a plea of "Not guilty," and proceed with the trial accordingly.

(e) If a plea of "Guilty" is recorded, and the trial proceeds with respect to other charges in the same charge-sheet, the proceedings under (b) and (c) shall take place when the findings on the other charges in the same charge-sheet are recorded.

(f) When the accused at any court-martial states anything in mitigation of punishment which in the opinion of the court requires to be proved, and would, if proved, affect the amount of punishment, the court may permit the accused to call witnesses to prove the same.

53. Withdrawal of plea of "Not guilty."—The accused may, if he thinks fit, at any time during the trial, withdraw his plea of "Not guilty," and plead "Guilty," and in such case the court will at once, subject to a compliance with Rule 50 (b), record a plea and finding of "Guilty," and shall, so far as is necessary, proceed in the manner directed by Rule 52.

54. Plea "Not guilty" and case for the prosecution.—After the plea of "Not guilty" to any charge is recorded, the trial shall proceed as follows:—

(a) The prosecutor may, if he desires, make an opening address.

(b) The evidence for the prosecution shall then be taken.

(c) If it should be necessary for the prosecutor to give evidence for the prosecution on the facts of the case, he shall give it after the delivery of his address, and he must be sworn and give his evidence in detail.

(d) He may be cross-examined by the accused and afterwards may make any statement which might be made by a witness on re-examination.

55. Close of case for the prosecution and procedure for defence where accused does not call witnesses.—(1) At the close of the evidence for the prosecution, the accused shall be asked if he intends to call any witnesses to the facts of the case.

(2) If the accused does not state that he intends to call witnesses to the facts of the case the procedure shall be as follows:—

(a) The prosecutor may address the court a second time for the purpose of summing up the evidence for the prosecution.

(b) The accused shall be asked if he has anything to say in his defence and may address the court in his defence.

(c) The accused may call witnesses as to his character.

(d) The prosecutor may produce, in reply to the witnesses as to character, proof of former convictions either by a Court-Martial or by a Criminal Court, and entries in the service conduct sheets but he may not again address the court.

56. Defence where accused calls witnesses.—If the accused states that he intends to call witnesses to the facts of the case, the procedure shall be as follows:—

(a) The accused shall be asked if he has anything to say in his defence, and may address the court in his defence.

(b) The accused may call his witnesses, including witnesses as to character.

(c) The prosecutor may, in special cases, with the permission of the court, call witnesses in reply.

(d) After the evidence of all the witnesses for the defence has been taken, the accused may again address the court, and the time at which such second address is allowed is in these rules referred to as the time for the second address of the accused.

(e) The prosecutor shall be entitled to address the court in reply.

57. Summing-up by judge-advocate.—(a) The judge-advocate, if any, shall, unless both he and the court think a summing-up unnecessary, sum-up in open court the whole case.

(b) After the judge-advocate has spoken, no other address shall be allowed.

Finding and Sentence.

58. Consideration of finding.—(a) The court shall deliberate on their finding in closed court.

(b) The opinion of each member of the court shall be taken separately on each charge.

59. Form and record of finding.—(a) The finding on every charge shall be recorded, and, except as mentioned in these rules, shall be recorded simply as a finding of "Guilty," or of "Not guilty," or of "Not guilty and honourably acquit him of the same."

(b) Where the court are of opinion as regards any charge that the facts which they find to be proved in evidence differ materially from the facts alleged in the statement of particulars in the charge, but are nevertheless sufficient to prove the offence stated in the charge, and that the difference is not so material as to have prejudiced the accused in his defence, they may, instead of a finding of "Not guilty," record a special finding.

(c) The special finding may find the accused guilty on a charge, subject to the statement of exceptions or variations specified therein.

(d) Where the court are of opinion as regards any charge that the facts proved do not disclose an offence under the Act, the court shall acquit the accused of that charge.

(e) If the court doubt as regards any charge whether the facts proved show the accused to be guilty or not of an offence under the Act, they may, before recording a finding on that charge, refer to the confirming authority for an opinion, and, if necessary, adjourn for that purpose.

(f) Where there are alternative charges, and the facts proved appear to the court not to constitute the offence mentioned in any of those alternative charges, the court shall record a finding of "Not guilty" on that charge; but if the court think that the facts so proved constitute one of the offences stated in two or more of the alternative charges, but doubt which of those offences the facts do at law constitute, then they may, either before recording a finding on those charges refer to the confirming authority for an opinion, and, if necessary, adjourn for the purpose, or they may record a special finding, stating the facts which they find to be proved, and stating that they doubt whether those facts constitute in law the offence in such one or another of the alternative charges as are specified in the finding.

60. Procedure on acquittal.—If the finding on all the charges is "Not guilty" the president shall date and sign the finding, and such signature shall authenticate the whole of the proceedings, and the proceedings, upon being signed by the judge-advocate, if any, shall be at once transmitted for confirmation.

61. Procedure on conviction.—(a) If the finding on any charge is "Guilty," then, for the guidance of the court in determining their sentence, and of the confirming authority in considering the sentence, the court, before deliberating on their sentence, may take evidence of and record the general character, age, service, rank, and any recognised acts of gallantry or distinguished conduct of the accused, any previous convictions of the accused either by a court-martial or a criminal court, any previous punishments awarded to him by an officer exercising authority under section 25 of the Act, the length of time he has been in arrest or in confinement on any previous sentence, and any military or air force decoration, or military or air force reward, of which he may be in possession or to which he is entitled, and which the court can sentence him to forfeit.

(b) Evidence on the above matters may be given by a witness verifying a statement which contains a summary of the entries in the service records respecting the accused and identifying the accused as the person referred to in that summary.

(c) The accused may cross-examine any such witness, and may call witnesses to rebut such evidence; and if the accused so requests, the service records or a duly certified copy of the material entries therein, shall be produced; and if the accused alleges that the summary is in any respect not in accordance with the service records or such certified copy, as the case may be, the court shall compare the summary with those records or copy, and if they find it is not in accordance therewith, shall cause the summary to be corrected accordingly.

(d) When all the evidence on the above matters has been given the accused may address the court thereon.

62. Sentence.—The court shall award one sentence in respect of all the offences of which the accused is found guilty, and such sentence shall be deemed to be awarded in respect of the offence in each charge in respect of which it can be legally given, and not to be awarded in respect of any offence in a charge in respect of which it cannot be legally given.

63. Recommendation to mercy.—(a) If the court make a recommendation to mercy they shall give their reasons for their recommendation.

(b) The number of opinions by which a recommendation to mercy mentioned in this rule, or any question relative thereto, is adopted or rejected, may be entered in the proceedings.

64. Signing and transmission of Proceedings.—Upon the court awarding the sentence, the president shall date and sign the sentence and such signature shall authenticate the whole of the proceedings, and the proceedings upon being signed by the judge-advocate, if any, shall be at once transmitted for confirmation.

Confirmation and Revision.

65. Revision.—(a) Where the finding or sentence is sent back for revision under section 107 of the Act the court shall re-assemble in closed court, but if the court is directed to take fresh evidence on revision such evidence must be taken in open court and in the presence of the accused.

(b) Where the finding is sent back for revision and the court do not adhere to their former finding, they shall revoke the finding and sentence, and record a new finding, and if such new finding involves a sentence, pass sentence afresh.

(c) Where the sentence alone is sent back for revision, the court shall not revise the finding.

(d) After revision, the president shall date and sign the decision of the court, and the proceedings, upon being signed by the judge-advocate, if any, shall be at once transmitted for confirmation.

66. Promulgation.—The charge, finding, sentence, and confirmation of a court-martial shall be promulgated in such manner as the confirming authority may direct; and if no direction is given, according to the custom of the service.

67. Mitigation of sentence on partial confirmation.—(a) Where a sentence has been awarded by a court-martial in respect of offences in several charges, and the confirming authority confirms the finding on some but not on all of such charges, that authority shall take into consideration the fact of such non-confirmation, and shall, if it seems just, mitigate, remit, or commute the punishment awarded according as seems just, having regard to the offences in the charges the findings on which are confirmed.

(b) Where a sentence has been awarded by a court-martial in respect of offences in several charges and has been confirmed, and any one of such charges or the finding thereon is found to be invalid, the authority having power to mitigate, remit, or commute the punishment awarded by the sentence shall take into consideration the fact of such invalidity, and if it seems just, mitigate, remit, or commute the punishment awarded according as seems just having regard to the offences in the charges which with the findings thereon are not invalid, and the punishment as so modified shall be as valid as if it had been originally awarded only in respect of those offences.

68. Confirmation of finding on alternative charge.—(a) Where a special finding has been recorded in relation to alternative charges under Rule 59 (f), and the confirming authority is of opinion that the facts found by the special finding constitute in law the offence charged by any of the alternative charges, that authority may confirm the finding, and in that case shall declare that the finding amounts to a finding of guilty on that charge; but if it is afterwards declared by any authority having power to remit or commute the punishment awarded that the said facts constitute in law the offence charged in one of the other alternative charges, then the confirming authority, or such other authority as aforesaid, may declare that the finding amounts to a finding of guilty on that alternative charge; and the finding shall be a valid finding of guilty on the charge specified in that behalf in the declaration made on confirmation, or, in case of a subsequent declaration, in that subsequent declaration.

(b) The sentence awarded in the case of any such special finding may likewise be confirmed, subject to this proviso, that if the offence in one of the alternative charges involves a higher punishment, or is otherwise graver, than the offence in the charge of which the accused is found to be guilty under the term of any declaration mentioned in (a), the authority making the declaration, or some other authority having power to mitigate, remit or commute the punishment awarded, shall mitigate, remit, or commute the punishment according as seems just, having regard to the last-mentioned offence; and the punishment as so modified shall be as valid as if it had been originally awarded in respect of the last-mentioned offence

69. Confirmation notwithstanding informality in, or excess of, punishment.—If the sentence of a court-martial is informally expressed, the confirming authority may, in confirming the sentence, vary the form so that it shall be properly expressed; and if the punishment awarded by the sentence is in excess of the punishment authorized by law, the confirming authority may vary the sentence so that the punishment shall not be in excess of the punishment authorized by law; and the confirming authority may confirm the finding and the sentence, as so varied, of the court-martial.

70. Member or prosecutor not to confirm proceedings.—A member of a court-martial, or an officer who has acted as prosecutor at a court-martial, shall not confirm the finding or sentence of that court-martial, and where such member or prosecutor becomes confirming officer, he shall refer the finding and sentence of the court-martial to a superior authority competent to confirm the findings and sentences of the like description of court-martial.

General Provisions as to Proceedings of General and District Courts-Martial.

71. Seating of members.—The members of a court-martial shall take their seats according to their rank.

72. Responsibility of President for proper conduct of proceedings.—(a) The President is responsible that the trial is conducted in proper order, and in accordance with the Act and with these Rules, and will take care that everything is conducted in a manner befitting a court of justice.

(b) It is the duty of the President to see that justice is administered, that the accused has a fair trial, and that he does not suffer any disadvantage in consequence of his position as a person under trial, or of his ignorance, or of his incapacity to examine or cross-examine witnesses or otherwise.

73. Power of court over address of prosecutor and accused.—(a) It shall be the duty of the prosecutor to assist the court in the administration of justice, to behave impartially, to bring the whole of the transaction before the court, and not to take any unfair advantage of, or suppress any evidence in favour of, the accused.

(b) The court may stop the prosecutor in referring to any matter not relevant to the charge then before the court, or any matter which the court is not investigating, and it is the duty of the court to restrain any undue violence of language or want of fairness or moderation on the part of the prosecutor.

(c) The court shall allow great latitude to the accused in making his defence; he must abstain from any remarks contemptuous or disrespectful towards the court, and from coarse and insulting language towards others, but he may for the purposes of his defence impeach the evidence and the motives of the witnesses and prosecutor, and charge other persons with blame and even criminality, subject, if he does so, to any liability to further proceedings to which he would otherwise be subject. The court may caution the accused as to the irrelevance of his defence, but shall not, unless in special cases, stop his defence solely on ground of such irrelevance.

74. Procedure on trial of accused persons together.—Where two or more accused persons are tried together and any evidence is tendered by any one or more of them, the evidence and addresses on the part of all the accused persons shall be taken before the prosecutor replies, and the prosecutor shall make one address only in reply as regards all the accused persons.

75. Separate charge sheets.—(a) When the convening officer directs any charges against an accused person to be inserted in different charge-sheets, the accused shall be arraigned and until after the finding tried, upon each charge-sheet, separately, and accordingly the procedure in Rules 46 to 59 both inclusive, shall, until after the finding, be followed in respect of each charge-sheet, as if it contained the whole of the charges against the accused.

(b) The trials upon the several charge-sheets shall be in such order as the convening officer directs.

(c) When the court have tried the accused upon all the charge-sheets they shall, in the case of the finding being "Not guilty" on all the charges, proceed as directed by Rule 60, and in case of the finding on any one or more of the charges being "Guilty" proceed as directed by Rules 52 and 61 to 62, both inclusive, in like manner in each case as if all the charges in the different charge-sheets had been contained in one charge-sheet, and the sentence passed shall be of the same effect as if all the charges had been contained in one charge-sheet.

(d) If the convening officer directs that, in the event of the conviction of an accused person upon a charge in any charge-sheet, he need not be tried upon the subsequent charge-sheets, the court in such event may, without trying the accused upon any of the subsequent charge-sheets, proceed as before directed by (c).

(e) Where a charge-sheet contains more than one charge, the accused may, before pleading, claim to be tried separately in respect of any charge or charges in that charge-sheet, on the ground that he will be embarrassed in his defence if he is not so tried separately; and in such case the court, unless they think his claim unreasonable, shall arraign and try the accused in like manner as if the convening officer had inserted the said charge or charges in different charge-sheets.

(f) If the accused pleads "Guilty" to a charge in a charge-sheet, and the trial does not proceed [as mentioned in Rule 52 (a)] with respect to the other charges in that charge-sheet, the court shall, subject to the directions of the convening officer, proceed to try the accused on the charges in the next charge-sheet before they proceed as directed by Rule 52 (b) and (c).

76. Sitting in closed court.—(a) When a court-martial sits in closed court on any deliberation amongst the members or otherwise, no person shall be present except the members of the court, the judge-advocate, any officers under instruction, and, if an interpreter has been appointed and the court consider his presence necessary, the interpreter; and the court may either retire, or may cause the place where they sit to be cleared of all other persons not entitled to be present.

(b) Except as above-mentioned, all the proceedings, including the view of any place, shall be in open court and in the presence of the accused.

77. Continuity of trial and adjournment of court.—(a) When a court is once assembled and the accused has been arraigned the court shall continue the trial from day to day and sit for a reasonable period on every day unless it appears to the court that an adjournment is necessary for the ends of justice, or that such continuance is impracticable.

(b) A court may adjourn from time to time, and from place to place, and may, when necessary, view any place.

(c) A court-martial, in the absence of a judge-advocate (if such has been appointed for that court-martial), shall not proceed, and, if necessary, shall adjourn.

(d) The senior officer on the spot, may also, for exigencies of the service adjourn or prolong the adjournment of the court.

(e) If the time to which an adjournment is made is not specified, the adjournment shall be until further orders from the proper air force authority; and, if the place to which an adjournment is made is not specified, the adjournment shall be to the same place or to such place as may be specified in further orders from the proper air force authority.

78. Proceedings on death or illness of the accused.—In case of the death of the accused, or of such illness of the accused as renders it impossible to continue the trial, the court shall ascertain the fact of the death or illness by evidence, and record the same, and adjourn, and transmit the proceedings to the convening authority.

79. Death, retirement or absence of President.—(a) In the case of the death, retirement on challenge or unavoidable absence of the president, the next senior officer shall take the place of the president and the trial shall proceed if the court is still composed of not less than the smallest number of officers of which it is required by law to consist.

(b) The opinions of the members of the court shall be taken in succession, beginning with the junior in rank.

81. Procedure on incidental question.—If any question should arise incidentally during the trial, the person, whether prosecutor or accused, requesting the opinion of the court, is to speak first: the other person is then to answer, and the first person is to be allowed to reply.

82. Swearing of court to try several accused persons.—(a) A court may be sworn or affirmed at the time to try any number of accused persons then present before it, whether those persons are to be tried together or separately, and each accused person shall have power to object to the members of the court, and shall be asked separately whether he objects to any member.

(b) In the case of several accused persons to be tried separately, the court, upon one of those persons objecting to a member, may, according as they think fit, proceed to determine that objection or postpone the case of that person and swear or affirm the members of the court for the trial of the others alone.

(c) In the case of several accused persons to be tried separately, the court, when sworn or affirmed, shall proceed with one case, postponing the other cases, and taking them afterwards in succession.

83. Swearing of interpreter and shorthand writer.—(a) At any time during the trial an impartial person may, if the court think it necessary, and shall, if either the prosecutor or the accused request it on any reasonable ground, be sworn or affirmed to act as interpreter.

(b) An impartial person may at any time of the trial, if the court think it desirable, be sworn or affirmed to act as a shorthand writer.

(c) Before a person is sworn or affirmed as interpreter or shorthand writer, the accused shall be informed of the person who is proposed to be sworn, or affirmed and may object to the person as not being impartial; and the court, if they think that the objection is reasonable, shall not swear or affirm that person as interpreter or shorthand writer.

84. Evidence, when to be translated.—When any evidence is given in a language which any of the officers composing the court, the judge-advocate, the prosecutor or the accused does not understand, that evidence shall be interpreted to such officer or person in a language which he does understand. If an interpreter in such language has been appointed by the convening officer, and duly sworn or affirmed, the evidence shall be interpreted by him. If no such interpreter has been appointed and sworn or affirmed, an impartial person shall be sworn or affirmed by the court as required by Rule 83. When documents are put in for the purpose of formal proof, it shall be in the discretion of the court to cause as much to be interpreted as appears necessary.

85. Record in proceedings of transactions of courts-martial.—(a) At a court-martial the judge-advocate, or, if there is none, the president, shall record, or cause to be recorded in the English language, all transactions of that court, and shall be responsible for the accuracy of the record (in these rules referred to as the proceedings); and if the judge-advocate is called as a witness by the accused, the president shall be responsible for the accuracy of the record in the proceedings of the evidence of the judge-advocate.

(b) The evidence shall be taken down in a narrative form in as nearly as possible the words used; but in any case where the prosecutor, the accused person, the judge-advocate, or the court considers it material, the question and answer shall be taken down verbatim.

(c) Any question which has been objected to, and the tender of any evidence which has been objected to, shall, if the prosecutor or accused so requests, or the court think fit, be entered with the grounds of the objection, and the decision of the court thereon.

(d) Where any address by, or on behalf of, the prosecutor or person under accusation, is not in writing, it shall not be necessary to record the same in the proceedings further or otherwise than the court think proper, except that—

(1) the court shall in every case make such record of the defence made by the accused as will enable the confirming officer to judge of the reply made by, or on behalf of, the accused to each charge against him; and

(2) the court shall also record any particular matters in the address by, or on behalf of, the prosecutor or accused person, which the prosecutor or accused person, as the case may be, requires.

(e) The court shall not enter in the proceedings any comment or anything not before the court, or any report of any fact not forming part of the trial; but if any such comment or report seems to the court necessary, the court may forward it to the proper air force authority in a separate document, signed by the president.

86. Custody and inspection of proceedings.—The proceedings shall be deemed to be in the custody of the judge-advocate (if any), or, if there is none, of the president, but may, with proper precautions for their safety, be inspected by the members of the court, the prosecutor and accused, respectively, at all reasonable times before the court is closed to consider the finding.

87. Transmission of proceedings after finding.—The proceedings shall be at once sent by the person having the custody thereof to such person as may be directed by the order convening the court, or, in default of any such direction, to the confirming officer.

88. Defending Officer and friend of accused.—(a) If an accused person is not represented at his trial by counsel, he may be represented by any officer subject to military or air force law who shall be called "the defending officer," or assisted by any person whose services he may be able to procure and who shall be called "the friend of the accused."

(b) It shall be the duty of the convening officer to ascertain whether an accused person not otherwise represented desires to have a defending officer assigned to represent him at his trial and, if he does so desire, the convening officer shall use his best endeavours to ensure that the accused shall be so represented by a suitable officer. If, owing to military or air force exigencies, or for any other reason, there shall in the opinion of the convening officer be no such officer available for the purpose, the convening officer shall give a written notice to the president of the court-martial, and such notice shall be attached to the proceedings.

(c) The defending officer shall have the same rights and duties as appertain to counsel under these rules and shall be under the like obligations.

(d) The friend of the accused may advise the accused on all points and suggest the questions to be put to the witnesses, but he shall not examine or cross-examine the witnesses or address the court.

89. Counsel allowed in certain general and district courts-martial.—(a) Subject to these rules, counsel shall be allowed to appear on behalf of the prosecutor and accused at general and district courts-martial if the Air Officer Commanding in India, or the convening officer declares that it is expedient to allow the appearance of counsel thereat, and such declaration may be made as regards all general and district courts-martial held in any particular place, or as regards any particular general or district court-martial, and may be made subject to such reservation as to cases on active service, or otherwise, as seems expedient.

(b) Save as provided in Rule 88, the rules with respect to counsel shall apply only to the courts-martial at which counsel are, under this rule, allowed to appear.

90. Requirements for appearance of counsel.—(a) Where an accused person gives notice of his intention to have counsel to assist him during the trial, either on the day on which he is informed of the charge or at any time not being less than seven days before the trial, or such shorter time before the trial as in the opinion of the court would have enabled the prosecutor to obtain, if he had thought fit, counsel to assist him during the trial, and would have enabled the authority appointing a judge-advocate to appoint counsel to act as judge-advocate at the trial, or where such notice as mentioned in (b) is given to the accused on the part of the prosecution, counsel may appear at the court-martial to assist the accused.

(b) If the convening officer so directs, counsel may appear on behalf of the prosecutor, but in that case, unless the notice in (a) has been given by the accused, notice of the direction for counsel to appear shall be given to the accused at such time (not in any case less than seven days) before the trial, as would, in the opinion of the court, have enabled the accused to obtain counsel to assist him at the trial.

(c) The counsel, who appears before a court-martial on behalf of the prosecutor or accused, shall have the same right as the prosecutor or accused for whom he appears, to call, and orally examine, cross-examine, and re-examine witnesses, to make an objection or statement, to address the court, to put in any plea, and to inspect the proceedings, and shall have the right otherwise to act in the course of the trial in the place of the person on whose behalf he appears, and he shall comply with these rules as if he were that person; and in such case that person shall not have the right himself to do any of the above matters except as regards the statement allowed by Rule 95 or except so far as the court permit him so to do.

(d) When counsel appears on behalf of the prosecutor, the prosecutor, if called as a witness, may be examined and re-examined as any other witness, and Rule 54 (a) and (d) shall not apply.

91. Counsel for prosecution.—The counsel appearing on behalf of the prosecutor shall have the same duty as the prosecutor, and is subject to be stopped and restrained by the court in the manner provided by Rule 73 (b).

92. Counsel for accused.—The counsel appearing on behalf of the accused has the like rights, and is under the like obligations as are specified in Rule 73 (c) in the case of the accused.

93. General rules as to Counsel.—Counsel, whether for the prosecution or for the accused, shall conform strictly to these rules and to the rules of criminal courts in India relating to the examination, cross-examination, and re-examination of witnesses, and relating to the duties of counsel.

94. Qualifications of counsel.—(a) Neither the prosecutor nor the accused has any right to object to any counsel if properly qualified.

(b) Counsel shall be deemed properly qualified if he is a legal practitioner authorized to practise with right of audience in a Court of Sessions in British India, or if, in any part of His Majesty's dominions other than British India, he is recognised by the convening officer as having in that part rights and duties similar to those of such a legal practitioner in British India and as being subject to punishment or disability for a breach of professional rules.

95. Statement by accused defended by counsel or officer.—(a) An accused person assisted by counsel, or by an officer subject to military or air force law, may, if he thinks fit, at the close of the case for the prosecution and before the address by such counsel, or officer, make a statement giving his own account of the subject of the charges against him.

The statement may be made either orally or in writing, but the accused making the statement shall not be sworn, and no question can be put to him by the court or by any other person.

(b) If the accused make such a statement the procedure shall, so far as possible, be the same as if the accused had called witnesses to the facts of the case, as provided in Rule 56.

Judge-Advocate.

96. Disqualification of Judge-Advocate.—An officer who is disqualified for sitting on a court-martial, and any other person who would have been so disqualified had he been an officer, shall be disqualified for acting as judge-advocate at that court-martial.

97. Substitute on death, illness or absence of judge-advocate.—If the judge-advocate dies, or from illness or from any cause whatever is unable to attend, the court shall adjourn, and the president shall report the circumstance to the convening authority; and a fit person not disqualified to be judge-advocate may be appointed by that authority, who shall be sworn, or affirmed, and act as judge-advocate for the residue of the trial, or until the judge-advocate returns.

98. Powers and duties of judge-advocate.—The powers and duties of a judge-advocate are as follows: —

(a) The prosecutor and the accused, respectively, are at all times, after the judge-advocate is named to act on the court, entitled to his opinion on any question of law relative to the charge or trial, whether he is in or out of court, subject, when he is in court, to the permission of the court.

(b) At a court-martial he represents the judge-advocate-general.

(c) He is responsible for informing the court of any informality or irregularity in the proceedings. Whether consulted or not, he shall inform the convening officer and the court of any informality or defect in the charge, or in the constitution of the court, and shall give his advice on any matter before the court.

(d) Any information or advice given to the court on any matter before the court shall, if he or the court desire it, be entered in the proceedings.

(e) At the conclusion of the case he shall, unless both he and the court consider it unnecessary, sum up the evidence and give his opinion upon the legal bearing of the case before the court proceed to deliberate upon their finding.

(f) The court, in following the opinion of the judge-advocate on a legal point, may record that they have decided in consequence of that opinion.

(g) The judge-advocate has, equally with the officer conducting the proceedings, the duty of taking care that the accused does not suffer any disadvantage in consequence of his position as such, or of his ignorance or incapacity to examine or cross-examine witnesses or otherwise, and may, for that purpose, with the permission of the court, call witnesses and put questions to witnesses, which appear to him necessary or desirable to elicit the truth.

(h) In fulfilling his duties the judge-advocate must be careful to maintain an entirely impartial position.

Witnesses and evidence.

99. Calling of all prosecutor's witnesses.—The prosecutor is not bound to call all the witnesses whose evidence is in the summary of evidence or whom the accused has been informed it is intended to call, but should ordinarily call such of them as the accused desires, in order that he may cross-examine them, and shall, for this reason, so far as practicable, secure the attendance of all such witnesses.

100. Calling of witness whose evidence is not contained in summary.—If the prosecutor intends to call a witness whose evidence is not contained in any summary given to the accused, notice of the intention shall be given to the accused a reasonable time before the witness is called; and if such witness is called without such notice having been given, the court shall, if the accused so desire it, either adjourn after taking the evidence of the witness, or allow the cross-examination of such witness to be postponed, and the court shall inform the accused of his right to demand such adjournment or postponement.

101. List of witnesses of accused.—The accused shall not be required to give to the prosecutor or court a list of the witnesses whom he intends to call, but it shall rest with the accused alone to secure the attendance of any witness whose evidence is not contained in the summary, and for whose attendance the accused has not requested steps to be taken as provided by Rule 30 (a).

102. Procuring attendance of witnesses.—In the case of trials by general or district court-martial the convening officer, or, after the assembly of the court, the president, shall take proper steps to procure the attendance of the witnesses whom the prosecutor or accused desires to call, and whose attendance can reasonably be procured, but the person requiring the attendance of a witness may be required to undertake to defray the cost (if any) of his attendance.

103. Procedure when essential witness is absent.—If such proper steps as mentioned in the preceding rule have not been taken as to any witness, or if any witness whose attendance could not be reasonably procured before the assembly of the court is essential to the prosecution or defence, the court shall—

(a) take steps to procure the issue of a commission for the examination of such witness; or

(b) if it is a general or district court-martial, adjourn and report the circumstances to the convening officer.

104. Withdrawal of witnesses from court.—During the trial a witness, other than the prosecutor, shall not, except by special leave of the court, be permitted to be present in court while not under examination and if, while he is under examination, a discussion arises as to the allowance of a question, or the sufficiency of his answers, or otherwise as to his evidence, he may be directed to withdraw.

105. Oath or affirmation to be administered to witnesses.—An oath or affirmation shall be administered to every witness, before he gives his evidence by a member of the court, the judge-advocate, or some other person empowered by the Court in one of the following forms or in such other form to the same purport as the court ascertains to be according to the religion or otherwise binding on the conscience of the witnesses.

Form of oath.

"I swear by Almighty God that what I shall state shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth."

Form of affirmation.

"I solemnly affirm, in the presence of Almighty God, that what I shall state shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth."

106. Mode of questioning witness.—(a) Every question may be put to a witness orally by the officer holding the trial, the prosecutor, accused, or judge-advocate, and the witness will forthwith reply, unless an objection is made by the court, judge-advocate, prosecutor, or accused, in which case he shall not reply until the objection is disposed of. The witness shall address his reply to the court.

(b) The evidence of a witness as taken down shall be read to him after he has given all his evidence and before he leaves the court, and shall, if necessary, be corrected.

(c) If the witness denies the correctness of any part of the evidence when the same is read over to him, the court may instead of correcting the evidence, record the objection made to it by the witness.

(d) If the evidence is not given in English and the witness does not understand that language the evidence as recorded shall be interpreted to him in the language in which it was given, or in a language which he understands.

107. Questions to witnesses by court or judge-advocate.—(a) At any time before the time for the second address of the accused the officer holding the trial, the judge-advocate and any member of the court may, subject to the provisions of this rule, address any question to a witness.

(b) Such questions shall only be addressed to witnesses with the permission of the court and through the officer conducting the proceedings.

(c) Upon any such question being answered, the officer conducting the proceedings shall also put to the witness any question relative to that answer which he may be requested to put by the prosecutor or the accused, and which the court deems reasonable.

108. Re-calling of witnesses and calling of witnesses in reply.—(a) At the request of the prosecutor or accused person a witness may, by leave of the court, be re-called at any time before the time for the second address of the accused, for the purpose of having any question put to him through the officer conducting the proceedings.

(b) A witness may, in special cases, be allowed by the court to be called or re-called by the prosecutor, before the time for the second address of the accused, for the purpose of rebutting any material statement made by a witness for the defence upon his examination by the accused on any new matter which the prosecutor could not reasonably have foreseen.

(c) Where the accused has called witnesses to character, the prosecutor, before the time for the second address of the accused, may call or re-called witnesses for the purpose of proving a previous conviction or entries in the service records against the accused.

(d) The court may call or re-called any witness at any time before the finding, if it considers that it is necessary for the ends of justice.

Addresses.

109. Addresses may be in writing.—All addresses by the prosecutor and the accused and the summing-up of the judge-advocate may either be given orally or be in writing, and, if in writing, shall be read in open court.

Insanity.

110. Provisions as to finding of insanity.—Where the court finds either that the accused is of unsound mind and consequently incapable of making his defence or that he committed the act alleged but was by reason of unsoundness of mind incapable of knowing the nature of the act or that it was wrong or contrary to law, the president shall date and sign the finding; and the proceedings, upon being signed by the judge-advocate if any, shall be at once transmitted to the confirming officer or the prescribed officer, as the case may be, to whom the case is reported under sub-section (1) of section 109 of the Act.

Preservation of Proceedings.

111. Preservation of proceedings.—The proceedings of a court-martial shall, after promulgation, be forwarded, as circumstances require, to the office of the Judge-Advocate-General in India, and there preserved for not less, in the case of a general court-martial, than seven years, and in the case of any other court-martial, than three years.

112. Right of person tried to copies of proceedings.—Every person tried by a court-martial shall be entitled on demand, at any time after the confirmation of the finding and sentence, when such confirmation is required, and before the proceedings are destroyed, to obtain from the officer or person having the custody of the proceedings, a copy thereof, including the proceedings upon revision, if any, upon payment for the same of seven annas for the first two hundred words, and half that rate for each subsequent two hundred words, or part thereof.

113. Loss of proceedings.—(a) If the original proceedings of a court-martial, or any part thereof, are lost, a copy thereof, if any, certified by the president, or the judge-advocate, may be accepted in lieu of the original.

(b) If there is no such copy, and sufficient evidence of the charge, finding, sentence, and transactions of the court can be procured, that evidence may, with the assent of the accused, be accepted in lieu of the original proceedings, or part thereof lost.

(c) In any case above in this rule mentioned, the finding and sentence, if requiring confirmation, may be confirmed, and shall be as valid as if the original proceedings, or part thereof, had not been lost.

(d) If the proceedings, or part thereof, were lost before confirmation, and there is no such copy or evidence, or the accused refuses such assent, as above-mentioned, the accused may be tried again, and on the issue of an order convening the court for the trial, the finding and sentence of the previous court, of which the proceedings were so lost, shall be null.

Irregular Procedure when no injustice is done.

114. Validity of irregular procedure in certain cases.—Whenever it appears that a court-martial had jurisdiction to try any person and that that person was charged with some offence or offences under the Act, and was shown by legal evidence to have been guilty of the offence or one of the offences charged, the finding in respect of the offence or offences of which he is so shown to be guilty, and the sentence may (if confirmation is necessary) be confirmed, and shall, if so confirmed, and in all cases where confirmation is not necessary, be valid, notwithstanding any deviation from these rules, or any defect or objection, technical or other, unless it appears that any injustice has been done to the offender, and where any finding and sentence are otherwise valid they shall not be invalid by reason only of a failure to administer an oath or affirmation to the interpreter or shorthand writer; but nothing in this rule shall relieve an officer from any responsibility for any wilful or negligent disregard of any of these rules.

Offences of Witnesses and others.

115. Offences of witnesses and others.—When any court-martial is of opinion that there is ground for enquiring into any offence specified in section 53 of the Act and committed before it or brought under its notice in the course of its proceedings, or into any act done before it or brought under its notice in the course of its proceedings which would, if done by a person subject to the Act, have constituted such an offence, such court-martial may proceed as follows, that is to say—

(a) If the person who appears to have committed the offence is subject to the Act, the court may bring his conduct to the notice of the proper air force authority, and may also order him to be placed in air force custody with a view to his punishment by an officer exercising authority under section 25 of the Act or to his trial by court-martial.

(b) If the person who appears to have done the act is subject to the Army Act, Indian Army Act or Air Force Act, the court may bring his conduct to the notice of the proper military or air force authority.

(c) If the person who appears to have done the act is subject neither to the Act, the Army Act, the Indian Army Act, or the Air Force Act, then in the case of acts which would, if done by a person subject to the Act, have constituted an offence under clause (a) of section 53 of the Act, the officer who summoned the witness to appear or the officer conducting the proceedings of the court-martial, as the case may be, may forward a written complaint to the nearest Magistrate of the first class having jurisdiction, and in the case of acts which would, if done as aforesaid, have constituted an offence under clause (b) or clause (c) of the said section, the court, after making any preliminary enquiry that may be necessary, may send the case to the nearest Magistrate of the first class having jurisdiction for enquiry or trial in accordance with section 476 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

SECTION 3.—Field General Courts-Martial.

The foregoing rules in this Chapter shall not, save as provided in rule 129, apply to field general courts-martial, which shall be subject to the following rules:—

116. Convening the court and record of proceedings.—The court may be convened and the proceedings of the court recorded in accordance with the form in the third appendix to these rules, with such variations as the circumstances of each case may require.

117. Charge.—The statement of an offence may be made briefly in any language sufficient to describe or disclose an offence under the Act.

118. Trial of several accused persons.—The court may be sworn at the same time to try any number of accused persons then present before it, but, except so far as accused persons are tried together for an offence committed collectively, the trial of each accused person will be separate.

119. Challenges.—(a) The names of the president and members of the court shall be read over to the accused who shall thereupon be asked if he objects to be tried by any of these officers.

(b) Any objection will be decided as provided for in section 85 of the Act—the vacancies being filled from among the waiting members (if any) or by fresh members being appointed by the convening officer.

120. Swearing or affirming the court.—(a) As soon as the court is constituted with the proper number of officers who are not objected to, or the objections to whom have been overruled, an oath or affirmation shall be administered to every member in such of the forms laid down in Rule 43 as shall be appropriate, or in such other form to the same purport as the court ascertain to be according to his religion or otherwise binding on his conscience.

(b) If an interpreter has been appointed, the appropriate oath or affirmation, as laid down in Rule 44, shall be administered to him.

(c) All oaths and affirmations shall be administered by a member of the court or by some person empowered by the court to do so.

121. Arraignment.—When the court are sworn or affirmed, the president shall state to the accused then to be tried, the offence with which he is charged, with, if necessary, an explanation giving him full information of the act or omission with which he is charged, and shall ask the accused whether he is guilty or not of the offence.

122. Plea to jurisdiction.—If a special plea to the general jurisdiction is offered by the accused, and is considered by the court to be proved, the court shall report the same to the convening officer.

123. Evidence.—(a) The witnesses for the prosecution will be called and the accused shall be allowed to cross-examine them and to call any available witnesses for his defence.

(b) An oath or affirmation as laid down in Rule 105 shall be administered to every witness, before he gives his evidence, by one of the persons specified in that rule.

124. Defence.—The accused shall be asked what he has to say in his defence, and shall be allowed to make his defence. He may be allowed to have any person to assist him during the trial, whether a legal adviser or any other person.

125. Record of the evidence and defence.—The President of the Court shall take down or cause to be taken down a brief record of the evidence of the witnesses at the trial and of the defence of the accused; the record so taken down shall be attached to the proceedings:

Provided that, if it appears to the convening officer that exigencies of the service or other circumstances prevent compliance with this provision, he may direct that the trial may be carried on without any such brief record being taken down.

If the accused pleads "Guilty" the summary of evidence, if any, may be read and attached to the proceedings, and it shall not be necessary for the court to hear witnesses for the prosecution respecting matters contained in the summary of evidence so read.

126. Finding and sentence.—The court shall then be closed to consider its finding. If the finding on any charge is "Guilty" the court may receive any evidence as to previous convictions and character which is available. The court shall then deliberate in closed court as to its sentence.

127. Proceedings after sentence or finding.—(a) If the proceedings do not require confirmation, the result shall be announced in open court and the sentence carried into effect as soon as possible.

(b) If the proceedings require confirmation they shall be transmitted without delay to the confirming officer and the sentence (if any) carried out as soon as possible after his confirmation has been received.

128. Adjournment.—(a) A field general court-martial may adjourn from time to time and from place to place and may when necessary view any place.

(b) The proceedings shall be held in open court, in the presence of the accused, except on any deliberation among the members, when the court may be closed.

129. Application of rules.—Rules 67 (Mitigation of sentence on partial confirmation), 69 (Confirmation notwithstanding informality in or excess of punishment), 87 (Transmission of proceedings after finding), 110 (Provisions as to finding of insanity), 111 (Preservation of proceedings), 112 (Right of person tried to copies of proceedings), 113 (Loss of proceedings), and 114 (Validity of irregular procedure in certain cases)—shall, so far as practicable apply to field general courts-martial as if field general courts-martial were district courts-martial.

130. Evidence of opinion of convening officer.—Any statement in an order convening a field general court-martial as to the opinion of the convening officer shall be conclusive evidence of that opinion, but this rule shall not prejudice the proof at any time of any such opinion when not so stated.

SECTION 4.—Execution of Sentences.

131. Committal warrants.—A warrant for the committal of a person to a civil prison, or to a military or air force prison or detention barrack, under the provisions of sections 113 to 115 of the Act shall be in one of the forms given in the Fourth Appendix to these Rules. Such warrant shall be signed by the commanding officer of the prisoner or by the commander of any higher air force formation within which the person sentenced may be.

132. Warrants under section 116 of the Act.—Any warrant issued under the provisions of section 116 of the Act shall be in one of the forms given in the Fourth Appendix to these Rules, and shall be signed by the officer making the order in pursuance of which such warrant is issued, or by his staff officer.

133. Sentence of dismissal or suspension.—(a) A sentence of dismissal awarded by a court-martial shall take effect from the date on which the sentence is promulgated to the person under sentence, or from such subsequent date as may be specified by the commanding officer at the time of such promulgation:

Provided that, when dismissal is combined with imprisonment or detention which is carried out in military or air force custody or with field punishment, the dismissal shall not take effect until the date on which the prisoner is duly released from military or air force custody, or until the completion of the field punishment, unless such field punishment is remitted by competent authority:

Provided also that, when dismissal is combined with imprisonment which is carried out in a civil prison, the dismissal shall not take effect until the date on which the prisoner is received into a civil prison.

(b) A sentence of suspension awarded by a court-martial shall, if no confirmation is necessary, take effect from the date on which it is signed by the president; if confirmation is necessary, such sentence shall take effect from the date on which, having been duly confirmed, it is communicated to the offender.

SECTION 5.—Field Punishment.

134. Field punishment.—(1) A court-martial or an officer exercising authority under section 25 of the Act may, for the purpose of awarding field punishment under the Act, sentence an offender for a period not exceeding, in the case of a court-martial, three months, and in the case of such an officer, twenty-eight days, to one of the following punishments, namely:—

(2) Where an offender is sentenced to field punishment No. 1, he may, during the continuance of his sentence, unless the court-martial or the officer, as the case may be, otherwise directs, be punished as follows:—

(a) He may be kept in irons, that is to say, in fetters or handcuffs or both fetters and hand-cuffs, and may be secured so as to prevent his escape.

(b) When in irons, he may be attached for a period or periods not exceeding two hours in any one day to a fixed object, but he must not be so attached during more than three out of any four consecutive days, nor during more than twenty-one days in all.

Explanation (1).—The offender must be attached so as to be standing firmly on his feet which, if tied, must not be more than twelve inches apart, and it must be possible for him to move each foot at least three inches. If he is tied round the body there must be no restriction of his breathing. If his arms or wrists are tied, there must be six inches of play between them and the fixed object. His arms must hang either by the side of his body or behind his back.

Explanation (2).—For the purpose of this punishment, irons should be used when available, but straps or ropes may be used in lieu of them when necessary. Any straps or ropes used for the purpose must be of sufficient width to inflict no bodily harm, and leave no permanent mark on the offender.

(c) He may be subjected to the like labour, employment and restraint, and dealt with in like manner as if he were undergoing a sentence of rigorous imprisonment.

(3) Where an offender is sentenced to field punishment No. 2, the provisions of sub-rule (2) with respect to field punishment No. 1 shall apply in his case except that he shall not be liable to be attached to a fixed object as provided in clause (b) of that sub-rule.

(4) Every portion of a field punishment shall be inflicted in such a manner as is calculated not to cause injury or leave any permanent mark on the offender; and a portion of a field punishment must be discontinued upon a report by a responsible medical officer that the continuance of that portion would be prejudicial to the offender's health.

(5) Field punishment shall be carried out within the unit to which the offender belongs or is attached so long as that unit is actually on the move, but when the unit is halted at any place where there is a provost-marshal the punishment shall be carried out under the orders of that officer.

(6) When the unit to which the offender belongs or is attached is actually on the move, an offender awarded field punishment No. 1 shall be exempt from the operation of clause (b) of sub-rule (2), but all offenders awarded field punishment shall march with their unit, carry their arms and equipment, perform all their air force duties as well as extra fatigue duties, and be treated as defaulters.

SECTION 6.—Detention.

135. Nature of punishment of Detention.—A sentence of detention awarded by a court-martial or by an officer exercising authority under section 25 of the Act, may be carried out—

(i) In a military or air force detention barrack.

(ii) In a barrack detention room under the control of a military or air force unit.

(iii) On active service, when the unit is halted at any place where there is a provost-marshal, under the orders of such officer.

CHAPTER V.

COURTS OF INQUIRY.

RULES FOR COURTS OF INQUIRY OTHER THAN COURTS OF INQUIRY HELD UNDER SECTION 62 OF THE ACT.

136. Courts of Inquiry.—(a) A court of inquiry is an assembly of officers or of officers and warrant or non-commissioned officers directed to collect evidence, and, if so required, to report with regard to any matter which may be referred to them.

(b) A court of inquiry may be assembled by the officer in command of any unit or portion of the Indian Air Force.

(c) The court may consist of any number of officers of any rank, or of one or more officers together with one or more warrant or non-commissioned officers. The members of the court may belong to any branch or department of the service, according to the nature of the investigation.

(d) The court shall be guided by the written instructions of the authority who assembled the court. The instructions shall be full and specific, and shall state the general character of the information required. They shall also state whether a report is required or not.

(e) Previous notice should be given of the time and place of the meeting of a court of inquiry, and of all adjournments of the court, to all persons concerned in the inquiry except a prisoner of war who is still absent.

(f) Save in the case of a prisoner of war who is still absent, whenever any inquiry affects the character or service reputation of a person subject to military or air force law, full opportunity must be afforded to such person of being present throughout the inquiry and of making any statement, and of giving any evidence he may wish to make or give, and of cross-examining any witness whose evidence, in his opinion, affects his character or service reputation, and producing any witnesses in defence of his character or service reputation.

(g) It is the duty of a court of inquiry to put such questions to a witness as they think desirable for testing the truth or accuracy of any evidence he has given, and otherwise for eliciting the truth.

(h) When a court of inquiry is held on prisoners of war, and in any other case in which the officer who assembled the court has so directed the evidence shall be taken on oath or affirmation, in which case the court shall administer the same oath or affirmation to witnesses as if the court were a court-martial.

The officer who assembled the court shall, when the court is held on a returned prisoner of war or on a prisoner of war who is still absent, direct the court to record their opinion whether the person concerned was taken prisoner through his own wilful neglect of duty, or whether he served with or under, or aided the enemy: he shall also direct the court to record their opinion in the case of a returned prisoner of war, whether he returned, as soon as possible, to the service, and, in the case of a prisoner of war still absent whether he failed to return to the service when it was possible for him to do so. The officer who assembled the court shall also record his own opinion on these points. In other cases the court shall give no opinion on the conduct of any person unless so directed by the officer who assembled the court.

(i) The members of the court shall not themselves be sworn or affirmed, but when the court is a court of inquiry on recovered prisoners of war the members shall make the following declaration:—

I, A.B., do declare upon my honour that I will duly and impartially inquire into and give my opinion as to the circumstances in which ....became a prisoner of war, according to the true spirit and meaning of the Regulations of the Indian Air Force; and I do further declare, upon my honour, that I will not on any account, or at any time, disclose or discover my own vote or opinion, or that of any particular member of the court, unless required to do so by competent authority.

(j) The court may be re-assembled as often as the officer who assembled the court may direct, for the purpose of examining additional witnesses, or further examining any witness, or recording further information.

(k) The whole of the proceedings of a court of inquiry shall be forwarded by the president to the officer who assembled the court.

(l) The proceedings of a court of inquiry, or any confession, statement, or answer to a question made or given at a court of inquiry, shall not be admissible in evidence against a person subject to Air Force law, nor shall any evidence respecting the proceedings of the court be given against any such person except upon the trial of such person for wilfully giving false evidence before that court.

(m) Any person subject to the Act who is tried by court-martial in respect of any matter or thing which has been reported on by a court of inquiry, and, unless the Air Officer Commanding in India sees reason to order otherwise, any person so subject whose character or service reputation is, in the opinion of the said Air Officer Commanding affected by anything in the evidence before, or in the report of a court of inquiry, shall be entitled to a copy of the proceedings of the court, including any report made by the court, on payment at the rate laid down in Rule 112 for copies of the proceedings of courts-martial.

RULES FOR COURTS OF INQUIRY UNDER SECTION 62 OF THE ACT FOR THE PURPOSE OF DETERMINING THE ILLEGAL ABSENCE OF PERSONS SUBJECT TO THE ACT.

137. Courts of Inquiry as to illegal absence under section 62 of the Act.—(a) A court of inquiry under section 62 of the Act shall, when assembled, require the attendance of such witnesses as they think sufficient to prove the absence and other facts specified as matters of inquiry in that section.

Articles 42 to 44 of the International Convention for the Safety of Life at Sea, 1929, lay down the procedure regarding the use of distress and urgency signals on board ships. The International Convention has been ratified by His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom and by several other countries and has already come into force for ships registered in those countries. The Government of India also propose to ratify the Convention and are undertaking necessary legislation for the purpose.

2. His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom have now prescribed certain additional signals of distress and the signal of urgency. It is considered that similar instructions should be issued in India in advance of the ratification of the Convention, since in the interests of the safety of navigation it is desirable that there should be the greatest possible uniformity of practice in this matter. The Government of India are accordingly pleased to issue the following instructions:—

I. The following signals of distress for use both in the day time and at night shall be added to those contained in Article 31 of the First Schedule to the Order in Council, dated the 13th day of October 1919:—

(1) (a) A signal made by radiotelegraphy or by any other distance signalling method consisting of the group

• • • ▬ ▬ ▬ • • • in the Morse Code.

(b) A Signal sent by radiotelephony consisting of the spoken word "Mayday."

(2) A signal sent by radiotelegraphy in the Morse Code consisting of a series of twelve dashes, each of four seconds duration, transmitted in one minute with an interval of one second between each dash.

II. The following signal shall be a signal of urgency—that is to say:—

Several repetitions of the Group XXX in the Morse Code sent by radiotelegraphy with the letters of each group and the successive groups clearly separated from each other.

THE Bengal and Madras Service Family Pension Fund which is provisionally managed and assisted by Government has for its object the provision of monthly pensions for the maintenance of the widows and children of subscribers and is open, with certain exceptions, to all active and pensioned members of the Uncovenanted service of Government (except those serving under the Government of Bombay), and to Local Fund servants earning pensions from Government. Some of the special features of the fund are (1) that widowed daughters incapable of remarriage or children labouring under such mental or bodily infirmities as incapacitate them from earning their livelihood or preclude the possibility of marriage (in case of a daughter) are admitted to its benefits ; and (2) that subscribers to the Widows' and Daughters' branches are entitled to a refund of 30 per cent. of the premia paid, should the nominee predecease them after five years of admission. The second quinquennial valuation of the Fund has been completed by the actuary to the Government of India, and his report discloses very favourable results. Bills introduced in the Council of State and Legislative Assembly, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council and Assembly and Bills published under Rule 18 of the Indian Legislative Rules.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Legislative Assembly Department.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 24th March, 1933 :—

L. A. BILL NO. 21 OF 1933.

A Bill to fix the amount of maintenance to which Hindu widows are entitled.

WHEREAS it is expedient to fix the amount of maintenance to which Hindu widows are entitled, and to make that maintenance a charge on their husbands' family property; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Hindu Widows' Right of Maintenance Act, 193 .

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas.

(3) It shall come into force on the day of 19 .

Definition of "widow".

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context, "widow" includes the widow of a person who, at the time of his death, professed the Hindu, Jaina, or Sikh religion.

Share of widow in case of joint family under the Mitakshara law.

3. Where a person is governed by the Mitakshara school of Hindu law and is, at the time of his death, a member of a joint Hindu family, his widow shall—

(a) if sonless, be entitled to get as maintenance the entire income which her husband's share in the joint family estate would, as on partition, yield, and

(b) if her husband has left son or sons, be entitled to get the income of such share of the estate as a son would get as on partition.

Share of widow when husband not a member of joint family under the Mitakshara law.

4. Where a person is governed by the Mitakshara school of Hindu law and is not, at the time of his death, a member of a joint Hindu family, his widow shall, if sonless, get her husband's property as a widow's estate. If, however, a posthumous son is born to her or if she adopt a son to her husband she shall be entitled to get, as maintenance, the amount of the income of her husband's property which a son would get as on partition.

Share of widow under the Dayabhaga law.

5. Where a person is governed by the Dayabhaga school of Hindu law, the widow shall, where her husband has left a son or sons, be entitled to get as maintenance, the income of so much of her husband's property as a son would get as on partition.

Maintenance of widow to be a charge on husband's estate.

6. The maintenance, to which a widow is entitled under this Act, shall be a charge on the estate left by her husband, or the estate which belonged at the time of his death to the undivided family of which he was a member when he died, and shall not be affected by any testament which a husband may make during his lifetime to the detriment of the widow's rights as secured to her by this Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Hindu law of inheritance is very unjust to women. It bears with the greatest harshness on the Hindu widows. An attempt to remove the injustice done to them by the law as at present administered in India having failed when the Legislative Assembly threw out in February last the Hindu Widows Right of Inheritance Bill, it has become necessary to enact a measure which would do full justice to Hindu widows so far as their right to maintenance is concerned.

Generally speaking, a Hindu widow is entitled only to maintenance. The amount of maintenance is not fixed or regulated by any rules having the force of law, but depends mostly upon the pleasure of her husband's relatives. The condition of many Hindu widows is, therefore, deplorable. In order to secure to them a reasonable and proper maintenance it is necessary to lay down certain broad principles which, without attempting to alter the Hindu law of inheritance, may, to some extent, mitigate the sufferings to which they are subjected owing to the absence of provisions in the law of inheritance giving women their proper share in the property of their parents and their husbands.

This Bill fixes the amount of maintenance to which Hindu widows are entitled.

Amendment of section 144, Act V of 1898.

2. To sub-section (1) of section 144 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, the following proviso shall be added, namely :— V of 1898.

"Provided that no order shall be made under this section against any person or class of persons directing him to abstain from any act in the exercise of his lawful rights solely on the ground that by reason of his belonging to a caste or community considered by law, custom or usage to be untouchable, any obstruction, annoyance or injury, or risk of obstruction, annoyance or injury to any other person lawfully employed, or danger to human life, health or safety, or a disturbance of the public tranquillity or a riot or an affray is likely or tends to arise."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

This Bill is intended to remove the danger of the provisions of section 144 of the Code of Criminal Procedure being used to prevent the exercise of lawful rights as members of the public by persons, coming under the description of "untouchables". Though in law they have equal rights with other castes and communities they are unable to exercise their rights because persons belonging to so-called higher castes are likely to create disturbances with a view to obstruct the peaceful exercise of such rights by them. In such circumstances, it is unfair that the so-called untouchables should be restrained by orders under section 144 of the Criminal Procedure Code. The proper course in such cases would be that orders under the section should be directed against those who wish to thwart the members of the untouchable classes in the lawful exercise of their civic rights. Authority should in such cases actively protect the so-called untouchable classes, and enable them to exercise their rights in spite of such unwarranted interference with their just and lawful rights.

(c) after clause (k) the following new clause shall be inserted, namely :—

"(kk) all compulsory deposits and other sums due to any servant or workman in or derived from any Provident Fund certified by Government".

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

For the low standard of living of the worker, indebtedness is greatly responsible. The Royal Commission on Indian Labour have observed at page 224 of their report as follows:

"the majority of industrial workers are in debt for the greater part of their working lives. Many, indeed, are born in debt and it evokes both admiration and regret to find how commonly a son assumes responsibility for his father's debt, an obligation which rests on religious and social but seldom on legal sanctions, Many come to industry because they are in debt; some are enabled by industry to clear themselves and a few then become money-lenders instead of money-borrowers. More often the debts remain and fresh obligations are incurred It is estimated that, in most of industrial centres, the proportion of families or individuals who are in debt is not less than two-thirds of the whole We believe that in the great majority of cases, the amount of debt exceeds three months' wages and is often far in excess of this amount"

One of the important causes of the indebtedness of the workers is, according to the Commission, to a large extent the fact that the lender finds in him a profitable investment and is ready and, indeed, eager to give the worker money which it is contrary to the latter's interest to accept Among the several recommendations that the Commission have made for removing the indebtedness of the worker some relate to the diminishing of his power of obtaining credit

Under the law, as it stands now, a money-lender can get an attachment on the wages of any of his debtor, and can use the employer as his debt collector It is possible to attach half of an employee's salary or an amount by which that salary exceeds 20 rupees, whichever is less and thus in the case of an employee in receipt of a regular salary, the money-lender can secure an order from the Court directing the railway administration or a local authority or sometimes even a private employer to hand over month by month a large part of employee's salary until the whole decree has been satisfied. The Royal Commission have observed that the level of indebtedness in terms of wages is higher among the railway servants than among the industrial employees as a whole The Commission have, therefore, recommended "that the salary and wages of every workman receiving less than Rs 300 a month be exempted entirely from the possibility of attachment"

Another recommendation made by the Commission is that the arrest and imprisonment of a worker in execution of a money decree be abolished The third recommendation is to exempt the contributions to the Provident Fund made by the workmen from being attached in execution of a decree This Bill is intended to give effect to these recommendations The amendments proposed are to be made in the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

1 The Shastras have laid down definitely the persons or class of persons who are entitled to get maintenance This Bill is not intended any way to modify or expand the Shastra's rule on the point

2 In these days when the spirit of joint family system is fast disappearing, a widow who is sonless requires greater protection from the State She requires a larger sum for her maintenance, as she has to meet all the incidental expenses of a separate household establishment than a widow having sons, with whom she might live as a family member Althouh a widow having sons is entitled to a share (except perhaps in Southern India) equal to that of a son in the event of a partition of the family estate in lieu of maintenance according to some, and by virtue of her proprietary right according to others, a sonless widow gets no share at all if her husband dies in a state of jointness with his male co partners, and even if he dies while separate from them, she gets no share in the inheritance, if the husband likes to disinherit her by testamental dispositions,

3 Under the Hindu Shastras, a wife is a co-owner with her husband in all his properties [See (1) Mr Justice Dwarka Nath Mitter s Position of Women, P 274 78 85 (2) 11 C L J, P 587], and it is by virture of this right, that she gets a share equal to that of her husband except perhaps in Madras [See I L R 8 Mad at 123 F B), in the event of a partition of the family estate in the lifetime of her husband, and equal to that of a son, if there is a partition after his death amongst the sons Some of the commentators, particularly Mitra Mesra, have, however, laid down that her co-ownership is merely fictional and not real, in as much on the authority of a text of apartment, he can never demand a partition (See D L R 4 All 296) But this position is not accepted by others, particularly Vachaspati Misra, the author of the Vivada Chintamani, the most authoritative commentary of the Mithila School (See 20 W R 137 P C) According to him, the text of Apastamb refers to no partibility of the fruits of the religious rites and ceremonies and does not apply to her right to partition of the properties And he has clearly laid down that she can demand partition as against her husband (See Tagor's Translation of the Vivada Chintamani, as revised by Jogendra Chandra Ghose, in his Hindu Law, Volume 2) Even the Mitakshara is not altogether against her right to claim partition, although its views have been very much misunderstood What it lays down is that she can have a partition, but only by the choice of her husband (See I L R 32 Cal at 242)

4 It is unfortunate, as has been pointed out by some Judges that Mr Colebrooke did not translate the chapter of the Mitakshara dealing with woman s rights and consequently the earlier decisions of the British Courts, based mainly upon rule of the English translations of the Shastras, as were available to them have very injuriously affected the rights of the Hindu woman in her husband's property

5 It must also be remembered that under the Hindu Shastras, there are only two aspects of the rights of a Hindu widow in her husband's property, viz —

1 Under the Mitakshara School, her right to mere maintenance, if her husband dies while joint with his male co-parceners and leaves only ancestral properties though the case is different under the Dayabhag Law

2 Her right to succeed to the husband s self-acquired properties, even if he died joint with his co-parceners (See the Sivaganga case, 9 M I A at 610) and to his ancestral properties if he died separate from his co-parceners (under the Mitakshara School).

6. The denial of her right to inherit even the separate property of her husband, under the Mitakshara or the Dayabhag School if the husband chooses to disinherit her by testamentary dispensation is the creation of case law based upon the doctrine of a testamentary power of a husband – a doctrine which is clearly foreign to Hindu Law :

See 8 M. I. A. 85.

7. The Hindu Law has, however, clearly laid down that a man is bound to maintain his wife, aged parents, and infant child, even if he has no property. The decisions of our Courts also recognise the right of a Hindu widow to a suitable maintenance out of the estate of her husband. What is yet left uncertain is as to the minimum and maximum amount of the maintenance to which she is entitled with reference to the income of the estate which is liable for her maintenance This Bill seeks to remove this uncertainty. as far as any general rule can be laid down on such a point.

8. It has been frequently noticed that a Hindu widow, who is unfortunately sonless, finds herself in great difficulty as soon as her husband dies. Those who succeed to the estate regard even any grant of maintenance to her, more or less, as an act of charity or grace on their part. Very often she finds none to help her as against those who take possession of the estate, for those who take her part, are characterised as interested persons trying to prevent litigation in the family. She may have lived in palaces, may be high placed in society, may have led a life of affluence and luxury, in the lifetime of her husband, but soon after the death of her husband, her condition becomes pitiable. Being ordinarily a pardanashin lady, she is unable to secure the help from any outsider and has thus to submit to the wishes of those who take possession of the estate.

9. In our Courts, she is at a great disadvantage. We all know that to fight out cases properly in a law Court, one requires a sufficient fund, which most of such widows have not at their disposal. Consequently they are very seldum not well represented in Courts, although their adversaries are able to secure the services of leaders of the bar. For want of funds, they are in majority cases unable to pay the necessary court-fee. They have to begin with pauper applications which are opposed and in majority of cases successfully. If anyhow they get over the difficulty at this stage, their difficulty at the trial of the suit is almost unsurmountable, as for want of funds they are unable to engage competent lawyers, they are unable to produce all the materials before the Courts to satisfy the several test laid down by decisions, as factors for fixing the amount. Moreover, they are as a rule very much hampered in prosecution of their cases on account of the influence of their adversaries.

10. Some of the Judges are often inclined to the view that maintenance for a Hindu widow means bare means of living and they fix the amount, keeping this principle in view, as there is no rule of law to control the discretion of the Judges in this matter.

11. It is laid down in the Hindu Shastras that if a man fails to maintain his wife who is blessed with a son, without any fault on her part, she should be given one-third of the income of the estate of her husband in lieu of her maintenance and relying upon this principle as embodied in a text of Yajnavalkya, the Bombay High Court awarded one-third of the income of the estate as maintenance to a Hindu widow, vide (i) I. L. R. 11 Bom. 199, (ii) 9 B. H. C. R. 283. But the Courts generally do not regard this as a binding rule. The difficulty has now become greater in view of a recent pronouncement of the Honourable the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council reported in All. I. R. 1929 P. C. 128 (Ekardeswarie Bhuasen's case), where it has been laid down that there is no warrant in Hindu Law for fixing a particular proportion of the income of the husband's estate to be given to his widow for maintenance.

12. Thus, in the absence of a definite rule of law on the point, the amount to be fixed is left to the sole discretion of the Judge. The result is that very much depends upon the inclination and the mentality of the Judge and probably upon his own idea of the necessities of a widow's life. It is within the experience of some of the Honourable Members who have had to deal with such cases, that European Judges take a much more favourable view of the widow's necessities and award a much larger sum than Indian Judges, on almost the same set of facts, are inclined to award. To give a concrete instance, I may say that in one case, while the Privy Council allowed Rs. 15,000 a year as maintenance to a Hindu widow, where the income of the property of her husband was, on evidence before them, somewhere between 45 and 50 thousand, which was held to have devolved upon her husband's brother E by reason of family custom and which accordingly passed to E ; but when E's sonless widow sued for maintenance, as against her three step-sons, possessing income of both the estates (i.e., J's estate and E's estate) yielding over a lakh a year, the latter was allowed by a Sub-Judge only Rs. 350 a month. The Sub-Judge's judgment was upheld by High Court and by the Privy Council on the general principle that a trial court's judgment on a question of amount should not be lightly disturbed. [See I. L. R., 42 Cal. 607 P. C. (Ekardeswarie's case).]

All. I. R. 1929 P. C. (Ekardeswarie's case).

13. Another important reason for the introduction of a Bill like the present has now arisen, in view of the said pronouncement of the P. C where they lay down as a rule of law that the question of the amount being one of fact, should not be disturbed by the Court of Appeal and, in any case, not by the Second Court of Appeal, treating the finding as one of fact.

14. In order, therefore, to make the Law definite and relieve the helpless widows of their difficulties in getting adequate relief from the Courts, a definite rule of law, fixing the minimum and maximum proportion of income of the estate to be given to a Hindu widow, is necessary, as it will afford a basis for the Courts to proceed to determine the amount of maintenance.

15. As regards the arrears of maintenance which a Hindu widow is entitled to recover out of the estate of her husband the Law does not seem quite settled. In spite of the earlier pronouncement of the Privy Council in her favour on the point, the Bombay High Court has laid down that the award of arrears is entirely discretionary with the Court (vide I. L. R. 36 Bombay 383), and the Sub-Judge and the Patna High Court in Ekardeswaric Bhuasen's case, refused to allow her any arrears and actually disallowed it, on the doctrine of the discretion of the Court, as also on the ground that there was no formal demand

16 This judgment of the High Court was upset by the Privy Council in the abovementioned case (All. L. R. 1929 P. C.) where they allowed the arrears and have further laid down, as a rule of law that a widow is entitled to maintenance from the time of the death of her husband In view of the difference of opinion in the decisions, it is desirable that the principle laid down by the Privy Council should receive recognition by the Legislature.

17 The maintenance of a widow is, under the Shastras, a charge upon the husband's estate. The decisions of our Courts have, however, made the position doubtful and, in several cases, it has been laid down that such maintenance is not a charge upon the estate, unless it is so declared either by a decree of the Court, or by a contract between the parties. This leads to hardship in many cases If the persons succeeding to such estate sell away the corpus of the estate, either to defraud her or to meet their own necessities, the widows find it difficult to realise the maintenance -awarded by the Courts. Such persons are not held personally liable and such purchasers are protected by the doctrine of bona fide purchase, for value, without notice. The husband himself, if he is so inclined, can create difficulty in this matter by reckless alienation of his properties It is, therefore, very desirable that the Law on this point should be definitely laid down by the Legislature, and her maintenance be declared to be a first charge upon her husband's properties

18. Another safeguard which is necessary in the interests of such widows for timely realization of their maintenance, even after the decree, is the one laid down by Sir Lawrence Jenkins (in I. L R 26 Cal. 4411).

This case has been followed in two unreported decisions of the Patna High Court. Provision has been made in this Bill for such safeguards, in the absence of which, a decree of the Court may often become fruitless We know the difficulty of a decree-holder begins often when he gets a decree, as was pointed out by an eminent Judge The person liable may drag on the execution case for long, and if the widow has to execute her decree every month for her monthly allowance, she will probably be able to realise it, if at all, after a year or two, if not later.

19. Similarly, with respect to her residence she may have lived in a palace in the lifetime of her husband, but as soon as her husband dies, she is considered to have no right to continue to occupy that house. There have been cases where widows have been actually turned out of the residential houses by persons succeeding to the estate.

20. This Bill seeks to remove the difficulties of helpless widows in these matters.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 24th March, 1933 :—

L. A. BILL NO. 28 OF 1933.

A Bill to remove doubts about the application of the doctrine of representation, in case of succession to Stridhan under the Dayabhag.

WHEREAS it is expedient to remove all doubts about the rights of grandsons and great grandsons to inherit by representation of their deceased father or grandfather; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title, extent and application.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Removal of doubts about the application of the doctrine of representation, in case of succession to Stridhan under the Dayabhag Act, 193 .

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas.

(3) It shall apply to all persons governed by the Dayabhag.

Succession to Stridhan.

2. When the son is heir to Stridhan, the son of a predeceased son and the great grandson whose father and grandfather are dead, shall be deemed to have the right to inherit according to the doctrine of representation along with the sons, per stirpes, under the Dayabhag School.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The right of representation is allowed in the Dayabhag as far as the great grandson and the term "issue" comprehends not only as many sons as a man may chance to leave behind him, but son's son also and the sons of the latter or great grandsons. The rule of distribution, per stirpes, is an exceptional rule and can apply under the authority of special texts as in the case of male descendants within four degrees or in case of distribution of Stridhan. But there is an uncertainty about which the texts are not clear, whether in case of Stridhan, the grandson whose father is dead and the great grandson, whose father and grandfather are dead also inherit along with sons under the Dayabhag according to the doctrine of representation although the texts seem to favour this view. It is necessary to set this question at rest by removing all doubts about the rights of a grandson by a predeceased son or that of a great grandson by a predeceased grandson whose father also is dead to inherit the Stridhan along with sons, per stirpes, where the son is heir to the Stridhan under the Dayabhag School.

L. A. BILL NO. 30 OF 1933.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend certain provisions of the Indian Penal Code relating to offences under Chapters VI and VIII of the said Code; It is hereby enacted as follows :— XLV of 1860.

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Penal Code (Amendment) Act, 193 .

(2) It shall extend throughout the whole of British India, and shall have operation outside British India to the same extent as the Indian Penal Code. XLV of 1860.

Substitution of new section for section 124A, Act XLV of 1860.

Explanation.—Comments expressing disapprobation of the measures of the Government or of the system or methods of administration of the Government with a view to obtain their alteration by all legitimate and peaceful means, without inciting to violence or disorder in any form, do not constitute an offence under this section."

Substitution of new section for section 153A, Act XLV of 1860.

3. For section 153A of the said Code the following section shall be substituted, namely :—

Promoting enmity between classes.

"153A. Whoever by words, either spoken or written, or by signs, or by visible representations, or otherwise, promotes or attempts to promote feelings of enmity or hatred between different classes with intent to incite to disorder or violence or disturbance of public tranquillity, shall be punished with simple imprisonment which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both.

Explanation.—It does not amount to an offence within the meaning of this section to point out, without malicious intent or any intention to promote violence or disorder or a disturbance of public tranquillity, matters which are producing or have] a tendency to produce, feelings of enmity and hatred between different classes of His Majesty's subjects."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The recrudescence of prosecutions of newspapers and public workers for sedition for some time past as part of the general policy of revival of repression and "resolute government" and the decisions of the Magistracy and Higher Courts have shown a distinct tendency to widen the scope of this dangerous section of penal law of India. This development renders it necessary that early steps should be taken to amend the law so as to bring it into conformity with the acknowledged principles of civilized and free Governments and with the sound principles on which it was originally based before it was amended and interpreted in its present repressive form by bureaucratic courts and legislation between 1890 and 1908.

The law of sedition was first defined and incorporated in the Penal Code in 1870 at the instance and on the high authority of Sir Fitz James Stephen. The definition of the offence was made in simple and general terms, followed by an equally general explanation. Its actual scope was then explained by Sir Fitz James Stephen as Law Member, according to the law as it stood and continues to stand in England, in the following clear terms :—

"So long as a writer or speaker neither directly nor indirectly suggested or intended to produce the use of force, he did not fall within this section. Let it be shown that the matter complained of was not consistent with a disposition to obey the law. Let it be shown that it was consistent only with a disposition to resist the law by force, and it did fall under this section. Otherwise not."

The Judges to whom fell later the task of interpreting the section, however, construed the scope of section as extending far beyond the limits intended by the distinguished framers of the section. They were, of course, not bound by the proceedings, or speeches made in the Legislative Council and they gave the words a much wider meaning than was intended. Not satisfied with this, the Government further enlarged the scope of the law by the amendment of 1898, which was made in the teeth of the unanimous opposition on the part of the then representatives of the people in the Legislative Council.

It is not necessary to detail here the history of the application at the instance of successive administrations of section 124A of the Penal Code to suppress political agitation in India. It is sufficient to say that with the acceptance of the policy of responsible self-Government in India, the restoration of the law of sedition to the position it occupied in other countries and ought to have occupied in India all along, has become imperative.

The terms of proposed amendments in the Bill do not require lengthy explanation.

Clause 2 states the law of sedition in terms of section 124A as it existed in the Act before it assumed its repressive form in 1898 with the addition of a qualifying clause to prevent the extension of its meaning beyond the limits then intended and now followed in all well-governed countries. The limits of justifiable disaffection have been redefined in the words used by Sir Fitz James Stephen and by the Judges in England. The clause also provides for the only proper punishment that is now imposed in all civilised countries on political offenders for political offences.

Clause 3 defines the law as to the promotion of class hatred on similar lines.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 24th March, 1933 :—

L. A. BILL NO. 32 OF 1933.

A Bill to abolish the punishment of death for offences under the Indian Penal Code.

WHEREAS it is expedient to abolish the punishment of death in British India, which may be inflicted in pursuance of sentences passed under the Indian Penal Code; It is hereby enacted af follows :— XLV of 1860.

Short title, extent, application and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Abolition of Capital Punishment Act, 193 .

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas.

(3) The provisions of this Act shall apply to all persons to whom the provisions of the Indian Penal Code apply. XLV of 1860.

(4) It shall come into force on the 1st January, 193 .

Abolition of capital punishment.

2. Notwithstanding anything contained in Indian Penal Code whereby Courts are empowered to pass a sentence of death by way of punishment, no Court in British India shall pass such sentence of death for any offence committed in or outside British India, by any person to whom the provisions of this Act apply. XLV of 1860.

Exception.—The provisions of this Act shall not affect the provisions of section 132 of the Indian Penal Code or, of the Indian Army Act, 1911, or any other law or Statute passed either by the Indian Legislature or the British Parliament, under which death penalty can be inflicted, and which affects the discipline or maintenance of His Majesty's military, naval or air forces in India. XLV of 1860. VIII of 1911.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Capital punishment has been wholly or partly abolished in many of the progressive countries of the world. Australia, Belgium, Denmark, Holland, Italy, Norway, Portugal, Sweden and a few States in America, have already done away with death penalty. Public opinion in England, and in many other countries is also coming round to the view that capital punishment is a relic of barbarism, and is not suited to the social needs of the present time. The plea that capital punishment acts as a deterrent, and exercises a restraining influence, is not borne out by the experience of modern States.

The arguments in support of the abolition of the death penalty are shortly as follows :—

It demoralises those who inflict it; its harshness has the effect of coarsening the public sentiment. To authorise killing is to tamper with the sanctity of human life; sometimes innocent persons have been sentenced to death, and in such cases no reparation is possible. Science has now proved that murders are often committed under the influence of a frenzy, which is of the nature of a disease, and has to be treated like many other diseases by proper therapeutic means. To end the life of such criminal may seem to be a short out; but it has the effect of depriving the culprit of all opportunity of improvement under proper remedial conditions. In times when the dignity of human life was not adequately realised, public conscience tolerated this drastic remedy. But with the growth of a larger perception of the economy of human life, and the need of making the best use of the same, it is necessary that means should be adopted to remove this method of punishment. The principle that punishment for offences should be primarily regarded as a means of correction and reformation of criminals and criminally inclined persons, as also as a means of educating the social conscience of the community against crimes of violence or cruelty makes it imperative under modern conditions that the death penalty for offences should be abolished. The provisions of the Bill are accordingly intended to give effect to the above objects.

The Bill is not intended to affect any Statute of the British Parliament applicable to India; nor does it in any way affect discipline in His Majesty's army, navy, or air force.

Legislative Assembly Department.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 24th March, 1933 :—

L. A. BILL NO. 33 OF 1933.

A Bill further to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for certain purposes.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for certain purposes; It is hereby enacted as follows :— V of 1908.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Code of Civil Procedure (Amendment) Act, 19 .

Insertion of a new rule in Order XX of the First Schedule, Act V of 1908.

2. In Order XX of the First Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, after rule 10, the following new rule shall be inserted, namely :— V of 1908.

Decree for award of maintenance to Hindu widows.

"10 (A). Where the suit is for award of maintenance to the Hindu widow and she has been found entitled to get maintenance, the Court shall—

(1) determine the annual income of the estate out of which her maintenance is payable and award half of such income to such widow if her maintenance is payable out of the estate of her husband; and where the estate out of which her maintenance is payable, is in the hand of her son or sons, then such portion of income shall be awarded to her as would fall to her share if there was a partition by her as against her son or sons, she getting a share on such partition equal to that of a son;

Provided that such maintenance shall not ordinarily exceed Rs. 5,000 a month;

(2) declare that such amount of maintenance will be payable in 12 monthly instalments on the first day of each month;

(3) pass a decree for arrears of maintenance at the same rate as above with interest at 6 per cent. per annum from the date of the death of her husband or son, as the case may be, or from such later date from which she may have ceased to receive maintenance out of the estate liable for it;

(4) make proper provision by way of appointment of a receiver or otherwise for regular payment on the first day of each month, in future, and for payment of the arrears;

(5) declare such maintenance a charge on the estate liable for it;

(6) allot to her for her residence for life and for her exclusive use, the dwelling house which she occupied in the lifetime of her husband or shall, in addition to such maintenance as aforesaid, award her a suitable sum for house rent and make provision for its regular payment."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

1. The Shastras have laid down definitely the persons or class of persons who are entitled to get maintenance. This Bill is not intended any way to modify or expand the Shastra's rule on the point.

2. In these days when the spirit of joint family system is fast disappearing, a widow who is sonless requires greater protection from the State. She requires a larger sum for her maintenance, as she has to meet all the incidental expenses of a separate household establishment than a widow having sons, with whom she might live as a family member. Although a widow having sons is entitled to a share (except perhaps in Southern India) equal to that of a son in the event of a partition of the family estate in lieu of maintenance according to some, and by virtue of her proprietary right according to others, a sonless widow gets no share at all if her husband dies in a state of jointness with his male co-partners; and even if he dies while separate from them, she gets no share in the inheritance, if the husband likes to disinherit her by testamental dispositions.

3. Under the Hindu Shastras, a wife is a co-owner with her husband in all his properties [See (1) Mr. Justice Dwarkanath Mitter's Position of Women, P. 274—78—85, (2) 11 C. L. J., P. 587], and it is by virtue of this right, that she gets a share equal to that of her husband (except perhaps in Madras, See I. L. R. 8 Mad. at 123 F. B.) in the event of a partition of the family estate in the lifetime of her husband; and equal to that of a son, if there is a partition after his death, amongst the sons. Some of the commentators, particularly Mitra Mesia, have, however, laid down that her co-ownership is merely fictional and not real, in as much on the authority of a text of apartment, he can never demand a partition (See D. L. R. 4 All. 296). But this position is not accepted by others, particularly Vachaspati Misra, the author of the Vivada Chintamani, the most authoritative commentary of the Mithila School (See 20 W. R. 137 P. C.). According to him, the text of Apastamb refers to no partibility of the fruits of the religious rites and ceremonies and does not apply to her right to partition of the properties. And he has clearly laid down that she can demand partition as against her husband (See Tagore's Translation of the Vivada Chintamani, as revised by Jogendra Chandra Ghose, in his Hindu Law, Volume 2). Even the Mitakshara is not altogether against her right to claim partition, although its views have been very much misunderstood. What it lays down is that she can have a partition, but only by the choice of her husband (See I. L. R. 32 Cal. at 242).

4. It is unfortunate, as has been pointed out by some Judges that Mr. Colebrooke did not translate the chapter of the Mitakshara dealing with woman's rights and consequently the earlier decision of the British courts, based mainly upon rule of the English translations of the Shastras as were available to them, have very injuriously affected the rights of the Hindu woman in her husband's property.

5. It must also be remembered that under the Hindu Shastras there are only two aspects of the rights of a Hindu widow in her husband's property, viz. :—

1. Under the Mitakshara School her right to mere maintenance, if her husband die while joint with his male co-parceners and leaves only ancestral properties though the case is different under the Dayabhag Law.

2. Her right to succeed to the husband's self-acquired properties, even if he died joint with his co-parceners (See the Sivaganga case, 9 M. I. A. at 610) and to his ancestral properties if he died separate from his co-parceners (under the Mitakshara School).

6. The denial of her right to inherit even the separate property of her husband, under the Mitakshara or the Dayabhag School if the husband chooses to disinherit her by testamentary dispensation is the creation of case law based upon the doctrine of a testamentary power of a husband—a doctrine which is clearly foreign to Hindu Law:

See 8 M. I. A. 85.

7. The Hindu Law has, however, clearly laid down that a man is bound to maintain his wife, aged parents and infant child, even if he has no property. The decisions of our Courts also recognise the right of a Hindu widow to a suitable maintenance out of the estate of her husband. What is yet left uncertain is as to the minimum and maximum amount of the maintenance to which she is entitled with reference to the income of the estate, which is liable for her maintenance. This Bill seeks to remove this uncertainty as far as any general rule can be laid down on such a point.

8. It has been frequently noticed that a Hindu widow, who is unfortunately sonless finds herself in great difficulty as soon as her husband dies. Those who succeed to the estate regard even any grant of maintenance to her, more or less, as an act of charity or grace on their part. Very often she finds none to help her as against those who take possession of the estate, for those, who take her part, are characterised as interested persons trying to prevent litigation in the family. She may have lived in palaces, may be high placed in society, may have led a life of affluence and luxury, in the lifetime of her husband, but soon after the death of her husband, her condition becomes pitiable. Being ordinarily a pardanashin lady, she is unable to secure the help from any outsider and has thus to submit to the wishes of those who take possession of the estate.

9. In our Courts, she is at a great disadvantage. We all know that to fight out cases properly in a law Court, one requires a sufficient fund, which most of such widows have not at their disposal. Consequently they are very seldom not well represented in Courts, although their adversaries are able to secure the services of leaders of the bar. For want of funds, they are in majority cases unable to pay the necessary court-fee. They have to begin with pauper applications which are opposed and in majority of cases successfully. If anyhow they get over the difficulty at this stage, their difficulty at the trial of the suit is almost unsurmountable, as for want of funds they are unable to engage competent lawyers, they are unable to produce all the materials before the Courts to satisfy the several tests laid down by decisions, as factors for fixing the amount. Moreover, they are as a rule very much ham pered in prosecution of their cases on account of the influence of their adversaries.

10. Some of the Judges are often inclined to the view that maintenance for a Hindu widow means bare means of living and they fix the amount, keeping this principle in view, as there is no rule of law to control the discretion of the Judges in this matter.

11. It is laid down in the Hindu Shastras that if a man fails to maintain his wife who is blessed with a son, without any fault on her part, she should be given one-third of the income of the estate of her husband in lieu of her maintenance and relying upon this principle as embodied in a text of Yajnavalkya, the Bombay High Court awarded one-third of the income of the estate as maintenance to a Hindu widow, vide (i) I. L. R. 11 Bom. 199, (ii) 9 B. H. C. R. 283. But the Courts generally do not regard this as a binding rule. The difficulty has now become greater in view of a recent pronouncement of the Honourable the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council reported in All. I. R. 1929 P. C. 128 (Ekardeswarie Bhuasen's case) where it has been laid down that there is no warrant in Hindu Law for fixing a particular proportion of the income of the husband's estate to be given to his widow for maintenance.

12. Thus, in the absence of a definite rule of law on the point, the amount to be fixed is left to the sole discretion of the Judge. The result is that very much depends upon the inclination and the mentality of the Judge and probably upon his own idea of the necessities of a widow life. It is, within the experience of some of the Honourable Members who have had to deal with such cases, that European Judges take a much more favourable view of the widow's necessities and award a much larger sum than Indian Judges, on almost the same set of facts, are inclined to award. To give a concrete instance, I may say that in one case, while the Privy Council allowed Rs. 15,000 a year as maintenance to a Hindu widow, where the income of the property of her husband was, on evidence before them, somewhere between 45 and 50 thousand, which was held to have devolved upon her husband's brother E by reason of family custom and which accordingly passed to E; but when E's sonless widow sued for maintenance, as against her three step-sons, possessing income of both the estates (i.e., J's estate and E's estate), yielding over a lakh a year, the latter was allowed by a Sub-Judge only Rs. 350 a month. The Sub-Judge's judgment was upheld by High Court and by the Privy Council on the general principle that a trial court's judgment on a question of amount should not be lightly disturbed. [See I. L. R. 42 Cal. 607 P. C. (Ekardeswarie's case).]

All. I. R. 1929 P. C. (Ekardeswarie's case).

13. Another important reason for the introduction of a Bill like the present has now arisen, in view of the said pronouncement of the P. C. where they laid down as a rule of law that the question of the amount being one of fact, should not be disturbed by the Court of Appeal and in any case, not by the Second Court of Appeal, treating the finding as one of fact.

14. In order, therefore, to make the Law definite and relieve the helpless widows of their difficulties in getting adequate relief from the Courts, a definite rule of law, fixing the minimum and maximum proportion of income of the estate to be given to a Hindu widow, is necessary, as it will afford a basis for the Courts to proceed to determine the amount of maintenance.

15. As regards the arrears of maintenance which a Hindu widow is entitled to recover out of the estate of her husband, the Law does not seem quite settled. In spite of the earlier pronouncement of the Privy Council in her favour on the point, the Bombay High Court has laid down that the award of arrears is entirely discretionary with the Court (vide I. L. R. 36 Bombay 383), and the Sub-Judge and the Patna High Court in Ekardeswarie Bhuasen's case, refused to allow her any arrears and actually disallowed it, on the doctrine of the discretion of the Court, as also on the ground that there was no formal demand.

16. This judgment of the High Court was upset by the Privy Council in the above-mentioned case (All. L. R. 1929 P. C.) where they allowed the arrears and have further laid down, as a rule of law, that a widow is entitled to maintenance from the time of the death of her husband. In view of the difference of opinion in the decisions, it is desirable that the principle laid down by the Privy Council should receive recognition by the Legislature.

17. The maintenance of a widow is, under the Shastras, a charge upon the husband's estate. The decisions of our Courts have, however, made the position doubtful and in several cases, it has been laid down that such maintenance is not a charge upon the estate, unless it is so declared either by a decree of the Court, or by a contract between the parties. This leads to hardship in many cases. If the persons succeeding to such estate sell away the corpus of the estate, either to defraud her or to meet their own necessities, the widows find it difficult to realise the maintenance—awarded by the Courts. Such persons are not held personally liable and such purchasers are protected by the doctrine of bona fide purchase for value, without notice. The husband himself, if he is so inclined, can create difficulty in this matter by reckless alienation of his properties. It is, therefore, very desirable that the Law on this point should be definitely laid down by the Legislature, and her maintenance be declared to be a first charge upon her husband's properties.

18. Another safeguard which is necessary in the interests of such widows for timely realisation of her maintenance, even after the decree, is the one laid down by Sir Lawrence Jenkins (in I. L. R. 26 Cal. 4411).

This case has been followed in two unreported decisions of the Patna High Court. Provision has been made in this Bill for such safeguards, in the absence of which, a decree of the Court may often become fruitless. We know the difficulty of a decree-holder begins often when he gets a decree, as was pointed out by an eminent Judge. The person liable may drag on the execution case for long, and if the widow has to execute her decree every month for her monthly allowance, she will probably be able to realise it, if at all, after a year or two, if not later.

19. Similarly, with respect to her residence she may have lived in a palace in the lifetime of her husband, but as soon as her husband dies, she is considered to have no right to continue to occupy that house. There have been cases where widows have been actually turned out of the residential houses by persons succeeding to the estate.

20. This Bill seeks to remove the difficulties of helpless widows in these matters.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 24th March, 1933 :—

L. A. BILL NO. 20 OF 1933.

A Bill further to amend the Mussalman Wakf Validating Act, 1913.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Mussalman Wakf Validating Act, 1913; It is hereby enacted as follows :— VI of 1913.

Short title. 1. This Act may be called the Mussalman Wakf Validating (Amendment) Act, 193 .

Amendment of section 2, Act VI of 1913. 2. In clause (1) of section 2 of the Mussalman Wakf Validating Act, 1913, after the words, "any property" the words "whether immovable or movable including shares in a company" shall be inserted. VI of 1913.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

From the definition of wakf given in the Wakf Validating Act, 1913, section 2, clause (1), it is clear that a wakf may be created of any property whether movable or immovable. But before the Act it was not settled whether a valid wakf can be created of movable property and there are conflicting decisions on the point of the Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Allahabad High Courts. The Bill proposes to remove any doubt which may still arise as to the validity of wakfs of movables such as coins and shares in a company.

Dacca, the 12th May 1933.

Final Forecast of the Wheat Crop of Bengal, 1932-33.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1930-31, the area under wheat in Bengal has represented some 0·4 per cent. of the total area under wheat in India. The ratio of the irrigated wheat acreage to total wheat acreage in (a) British India and (b) in the territory now reported on has, in the five years ending 1930-31, averaged (a) 39·8 and (b) 10·9 per cent., respectively.)

Character of the season.—In the third forecast issued in April last, the weather was reviewed as having been satisfactory for the province. Subsequent conditions remained practically the same except in the districts of Bogra and Malda, where the outturn was further reduced owing to damage by drought in the former and insect-pests in the latter.

Acreage.—According to District Officers' estimates, the total area sown is 142,900 acres this year as against 145,200 acres last year.

Outturn.—The provincial outturn as worked out from the district estimate is 78 per cent. of the normal as against 74 per cent. last year. Taking the normal yield to be 10 maunds per acre, the gross yield of the crop for the province is estimated at 40,900 tons this year as against 34,500 tons last year.

At the end of April the wholesale price of wheat in the Calcutta mart was Rs. 3-5 per maund or about 2 per cent. lower than the price ruling at the corresponding period of last year. The price of common rice at Calcutta, on the other hand, was Rs. 3-4 per maund or about 13 per cent. lower than last year.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Dacca, the 12th May 1933.

Third and Final Forecast of the Spring Oilseed Crops of Bengal, 1932-33.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1930-31, the area under linseed in Bengal has represented some 3·6 per cent. and that under rape and mustard 11·2 per cent. of the total area under these crops in British India.)

Character of the season.—As indicated in the second forecast the weather was unfavourable owing to untimely heavy rainfall at the time of sowing. Although subsequent dry weather was helpful to the germination and growth of the crops, prolonged drought affected the outturn to some extent. On the whole, the season was fairly favourable for the crops this year.

Area sown.—Oilseeds are chiefly grown in the Rajshahi, Dacca and Presidency Divisions. In the other two divisions the cultivation is small. The total area under these crops (excepting sesamum for which separate forecasts are issued) is returned at 885,200 acres this year as against 940,700 acres last year.

Outturn.—From the District Officers' estimates the provincial outturn of the different oilseed crops works out at 77 per cent. of the normal as against 81 per cent. last year.

Taking 7 3/8th maunds as the normal rate of yield per acre for linseed, 7 3/5th maunds for rape and mustard and 4¼ maunds for other oilseeds, the total yield of the crops for the province is estimated at 184,700 tons this year as against 165,200 tons last year.

Resolution on the Final Report on relief operations in the district of Malda.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

Revenue Department.

Miscellaneous.

DARJEELING, THE 9TH MAY 1933.

RESOLUTION—No. 149T.R.

Read—

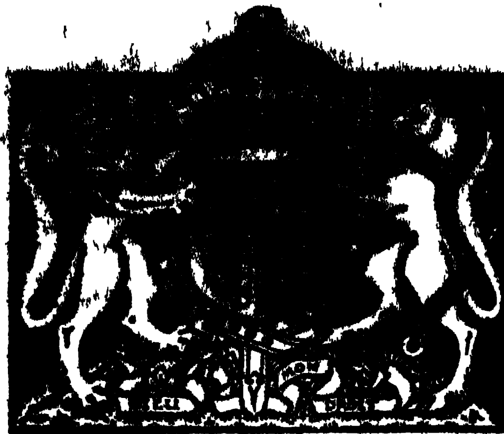
Letter No. 904M., dated the 9th March 1933, from the Commissioner of the Rajshahi Division, submitting a final report on relief operations in the district of Malda in 1931.

The report deals with the operations for the relief of distress which prevailed in the district during a period of about four months from August to November 1931. The distress was confined to thanas Kharba, Harishchandrapur and Ratua. The main causes of the distress were drought in the earlier part of 1931 and the floods from the Ganges and the Mahananda at the beginning of August, which did not subside for three weeks. The area inundated was 191 square miles with a population of 86,136. The area is normally subject to flood which usually has a beneficial effect, but on this occasion the flood was higher than usual and came at a time when the bhadoi paddy, which had been sown late owing to drought and lack of money for purchase of seed, was in flower. Some broadcast aman paddy was also damaged, and in Ratua thana a large part of the maize crop which is an important subsidiary crop was totally destroyed. The people had exhausted their stock of grain and were relying on getting a bumper crop of bhadoi paddy. The sudden and unexpected loss of this crop at a time of economic depression was a very serious calamity.

2. Fortunately, however, the distress did not last long and never became so serious as to necessitate the declaration of scarcity or famine under section 74 of the Bengal Famine Code, 1913.

3. Relief measures were promptly undertaken by Government. Relief was given mainly by means of agricultural loans. In 1931-32 a total sum of Rs. 88,250 was distributed as agricultural loans in the district, out of this a sum of Rs. 43,214 was distributed in order to give relief in the flooded areas. Arrangements were also made for sending a large number of men as labourers to harvest crops in the neighbouring areas and the adjoining districts where they were able to earn wages. Hence, though preparations were made, it was not found necessary to open any test relief works. A sum of Rs. 800 was advanced from the District Relief Fund for the purchase of paddy which was distributed through the Presidents of union boards among women, who husked it and returned the rice after keeping a certain proportion for their labour. The rice was then sold and with the sale proceeds more paddy was bought and distributed. This system gave relief to a considerable number of destitute widows. Lists of destitute persons who were unable to work owing to age or infirmity were prepared, and the sum of Rs. 575 from funds placed at the disposal of the Commissioner by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce was distributed among them as gratuitous relief. As the period of distress was of short duration, no further relief measures were found necessary. There was a bumper harvest of bhadoi paddy in neighbouring areas shortly after the flood and many people from the flooded tract were able to get work in those areas at the critical time. This together with the relief measures followed by the harvest of winter paddy and kalai almost restored normal condition. Out of the sum of Rs. 43,214 advanced as agricultural loans, Rs. 36,835 had been repaid by the end of January 1933.

4. The Governor in Council is satisfied that the measures taken for relief of distress were successful and adequate. He desires to record his appreciation of the good work done by Rai Rebati Mohan Chakrabarti Bahadur, the then Collector of the district, and his staff.



ORDER—Ordered that this resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

RESOLUTION.

No. 288.—The Governor-General in Council hereby makes the following rules for the regulation of admission to the Indian Military Academy by examination in India which will be held in October 1933.

RULES.

1. (i) A candidate who desires to be examined in India shall apply to be admitted to the examination before such date and in such form as the Governor-General in Council may prescribe. The application shall be made to the proper authority of the area in which his parents reside at the time of the application, or of an area in which they have previously resided for a period of not less than three years, or in which he has himself resided, otherwise than as a student at an educational institution only, for a like period.

(ii) The proper authority for a Governor's Province shall be the Local Government; for Coorg, Delhi or Ajmer-Merwara, the Chief Commissioner; and for a State in India the Political Officer or Agent, who shall be addressed through the Durbar. Provided that the proper authority for candidates who are cadets of the Prince of Wales's Royal Indian Military College, Dehra Dun, shall be the Principal of the College.

(iii) Applications from candidates in British India (other than cadets of the Prince of Wales's Royal Indian Military College, Dehra Dun, who shall submit their applications to the Principal of the College direct) shall be submitted to the proper authority through the Collector or Deputy Commissioner of the candidate's district, or, in the case of Calcutta, to the Commissioner of Police.

(iv) No candidate shall make more than one application in respect of this examination.

2. A candidate must be an unmarried man and either:—

(a) a British subject of Indian domicile whose father (if alive) is a British subject or a subject of a State in India, or (if dead) was at the time of his death either a British subject or a subject of a State in India or a person in the permanent service of the Crown or a person who had retired from that Service; or

(b) a Ruler or a subject of a State in India in respect of whom the Governor-General in Council has made a declaration under Section 96-A of the Government of India Act:

Provided that in the case of a British subject the requirements of this rule may be waived by the Secretary of State in Council if he is satisfied that their observance would occasion exceptional hardship, and that the candidate is so closely connected by ancestry and upbringing with His Majesty's dominions as to justify special treatment.

3. A candidate must furnish a declaration from his father or guardian, in the form prescribed, that the latter is in a position, and will be prepared to discharge the financial obligations attaching to the candidate's training at the Indian Military Academy, Dehra Dun, and that, if such candidate is selected for admission, the parent or guardian will be required to sign a declaration that:—

(a) if his son/ward withdraws from the Indian Military Academy before the termination of his course, or

(b) if, on the termination of his course, his son/ward declines to accept a commission in the Indian Army

for reasons within the control of the parent/guardian or the cadet (on which point final decision will rest with the Government of India) he will be prepared to pay the full cost which Government may have incurred on his education at the Indian Military Academy.

4. The maximum number of candidates to be admitted to the examination may, in the discretion of the Governor-General in Council be limited to such number as the Governor-General in Council may decide. If a limit is imposed and the number of candidates exceeds that limit, the Public Service Commission shall select from among the applicants those who shall be admitted to the examination and shall have regard in so doing to the suitability of the applicants for employment as commissioned officers, in the Indian Army.

5. A candidate for this examination must attain the age of 18, and must not attain the age of 20, by the first day of November 1933.

6. A candidate must be in good mental and bodily health and free from any physical defect likely to interfere with the efficient performance of the duties of a commissioned officer in the Indian Army. A candidate who, after examination by a Medical Board is found not to satisfy these requirements will not be accepted for admission to the Academy.*

*Only successful candidates will be medically examined. Candidates are recommended to consult a Civil Surgeon as to their physical suitability before entering for the examination.

7. A candidate must satisfy the Public Service Commission that he is suitable in all respects for employment as a commissioned officer in the Indian Army.

8. No candidate shall be admitted to the examination unless he holds a certificate of admission from the Public Service Commission.

9. No recommendations except those invited in the form of application will be taken into consideration. Any attempt on the part of a candidate to obtain support for his application by other means may disqualify him for admission.

10. (a) A candidate who competed in the examination held in March/April 1933, and failed to obtain a qualifying mark, will not be allowed to compete at the examination to be held in October 1933, unless he is ineligible by age to compete at any later examination.

(b) No candidate who fails to obtain a qualifying mark at this examination will be allowed to compete at the next examination, unless that examination is the last at which he would be qualified by age to compete.

11. Candidates must pay the following fees:—

Extracts from Standing Rules for students.

1. Students are expected to attend 100 per cent. of the works, and those who have not put up at least 75 per cent. of possible attendances in class and 80 per cent. in field work are not allowed to appear at any examination of the Survey Education Advisory Board.

2. Ordinarily students are not granted leave out of the school for more than ten days during a session. Such leave is granted only on a requisition from the bona fide guardian of the student concerned.

3. Students are excused from attending the class or the field on medical grounds on the recommendation of the school medical officer. But frequent absence on medical grounds may render a student unfit for the course.

4. Students must provide themselves with drawing instruments, books and all other necessaries within a week of the opening of each session.

5. Breaches of discipline are dealt with according to the rules in force in the Education Department.

6. During work out of doors students should wear shorts and shirts. Wearing sola topee is also recommended.

(b) the manner of publication of the notices and orders of the trustee;

(c) the method of obtaining the opinions of the voters; and

(d) the decision of disputes regarding the ascertainment of such opinions.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The custom of segregation of certain classes of the Hindu community as untouchable and the social disabilities they suffer from have been the subject of universal condemnation. There has been continuous agitation on the part of leaders of these classes as well on the part of reformers among caste-Hindus to break the custom and remove the disabilities. Recent events have brought this agitation to a head and there is at present a great wave of feeling throughout India for the removal of disabilities of these "depressed classes" as they have commonly been called. Public agitation is specially focussed on the exclusion of these classes from entry into the ordinary Hindu temples along with caste-Hindus. Public Hindu Temples being places of more or less free and equal association of all sections and denominations of caste-Hindus in the worship of their common Gods, it is felt that these "depressed classes" should also be given the right of entry into these temples for purposes of worship. In spite of great advance in public opinion established usage is enforced as law to the prejudice of these classes, and no change or innovation is permitted. Not only have Courts treated the entry of members of these classes into Hindu temples as a defilement thereof punishable by the Indian Penal Code, but doubts have been felt as to the authority of trustees in charge of temples peacefully to permit such entry even when they feel that public opinion among the worshippers favours such entry. In the opinion of many trustees the Law of the land and section 40 of the Madras Hindu Religious Endowments Act II of 1927 in particular, stands in the way of any change. It is, therefore, necessary to enact a law of a permissive character enabling the removal of the bar where local public opinion favours such reform.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Legislative Assembly Department.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 24th March, 1933 :—

L. A. BILL NO. 14 OF 1933.

A Bill to repeal the Child Marriage Restraint Act, 1929.

WHEREAS it is expedient to repeal the Child Marriage Restraint Act, 1929 ; it is hereby enacted as follows :— XIX of 1929.

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Child Marriage Restraint (Repealing) Act, 193 .

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas.

Repeal of Act XIX of 1929.

2. The Child Marriage Restraint Act, 1929, is hereby repealed. XIX of 1929.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Child Marriage Restraint Act of 1929 was originally introduced in the Legislative Assembly as a Bill to regulate marriages of Hindu girls under twelve years of age. The objects and reasons clearly show that the idea was to confine its operation and secure its alleged benefit to the Hindus, and to achieve that object by declaring that marriages performed against the proposed provisions were invalid. When, however, it was found that both on religious and legal grounds it would be objectionable to interfere with the validity of marriages once performed, the original purpose was proposed to be achieved in the Select Committee by making the performance of such marriages criminal, by imposing penalties on those who participated in them and by naming the Bill a " Child Marriage Restraint Bill ". Such an alteration of a measure which was originally intended to be of a purely civil nature and accepted as such by the Assembly into a penal enactment and that in the case of a single community, was felt to be invidious, and this necessitated a further departure on the part of the Select Committee from the principle accepted by the Assembly by making it general in its scope, and applying it to all classes and communities in British India. In doing so, however, the committee were doubtful as to the propriety of materially amending as the Bill whose principle had been accepted by the Assembly, and of adopting the unusual step of substituting a new Bill of quite a different nature in the Select Committee, a step entirely opposed to Parliamentary practice and procedure, but they eventully justified their attitude upon grounds somewhat inconsistent with their own recommendations regarding the further stages of the Bill, which it is unnecessary to dilate upon. The gratuitous extension of the measure to the Muhammadan community at that late stage in disregard of their protests created a serious complication, and in order to disarm the opposition of the Muslim members of the Select Committee the minimum marriageable age for girls was raised to 14 from 12 (and in some cases even 11 years), originally fixed in the Bill.

The result of the alterations above detailed was that the original object with which the Bill was introduced, viz., to protect the Hindu society from the many alleged evils that it was subject to was entirely lost sight of, and the caution with which the author of the Bill proposed to proceed in the matter by making the Bill agreeable to the most conservative Hindu opinion which holds the belief based on their religion that a girl should not remain unmarried after she attains puberty, was set at naught by insisting that there shall be no pre-puberty marriages among the Hindus except under the pain of punishment. Every important community including the Muhammadans protested against this Bill, but it was passed in utter defiance of the virtually unanimous opposition of the country.

It is now admitted that a very wide feeling of resentment has been aroused in the minds of the great mass of population, both Hindus and Muhammadans, who are still wedded to their ancient culture and traditions by the passing of this measure, and that even politically it was a serious mistake. It is a well-known fact that numerous marriages in contravention of the provisions of the Act have been celebrated both by Hindus and Muhammadans even after their coming into force, and the Government have so far wisely taken a lenient view of the situation. But there are indications that their hands might be forced to strictly apply the provisions of the Act, especially in regard to the institution of prosecutions, with the result that the religious feelings and susceptibilities of the very large mass of the population otherwise peaceful and law-abiding would be seriously inflamed and redound on the country and the Government and thus become a political danger. It is absolutely necessary to prevent such a state of affairs.

The Act not only contravenes the fundamental principle of religious neutrality consistently held by the British Government as one of their "cardinal articles of faith", but it is also ultra vires of the Assembly inasmuch as it is repugnant to the provisions of section 18 of the East India Company Act, 1780 (21 Geo. II, c. 70), and of section 12 of the East India Company Act, 1797 (37 Geo. III, c. 142). It is further ultra vires inasmuch as the Governor General's sanction, even if it could be validly given to a measure of this nature was given for a Bill of a purely civil nature intended to apply to the Hindus alone and the present Bill which was a different and entirely new Bill as admitted by the Select Committee could not be covered by such sanction.

In the course of the discussions both at the time of the final debate on the Bill and subsequently, much misapprehension existed regarding the true nature of a Muhammadan marriage on the ground that it was not a sacrament in the sense that a Hindu marriage is, but a purely civil contract. My own opinion had always been that the real basis of a Muhammadan marriage is religious, but in view of the controversy raging round the question, I considered it advisable not to mix up the two questions, and, therefore, gave notice last December of a Bill to amend the Act by exempting certain classes of the Hindu community from the operation of the Act. Since then, the Honourable the Law Member in the course of the debate on Dr. Gour's Bill has made the position clear by admitting, and if I may respectfully say so, by rightly admitting that the fundamental basis of a Muslim marriage is religious sanction, and it is bound up with their religion which it was a mistake to suppose was a purely civil contract.

In view of this and the inherent nature of a Muhammadan marriage so ably pointed out by Maulvi Muhammad Yakub in his Dissenting Minute to the Age of Consent Committee Report, I felt no hesitation as to the course to be adopted. I have, therefore, framed this Bill by which I propose that the "Child Marriage Restraint Act, 1929", be wholly repealed.

I would only venture to add that it is impossible for the true Hindu whose law is based on the Vedas, Smritis, and other sacred books, and is belived to have a transcendental origin, or for the true Muhammadan who believes that his sacred books lay down a complete set of their codified laws including socio-religious matters, to agree that such a law can be changed by the Legislature of the country and by the votes of men, a good many of whom have no real faith in their religious and social organisation, and who, therefore, have no proper aptitude for judgment from a truly Hindu or Muhammadan point of view or have otherwise no sufficient sympathy for, or technical knowledge, or mental equipment for the purpose. Democracy, even in its modern sense, was never meant for the effectuation of radical changes in the socio-religious systems of the Hindus, Muhammadans or any other communities which take revelation as embodied in their Sacred Books as their socio-religious basis.

(b) A girl shall be deemed to be a major on completing the age of 14 years.

Penalty.

3. If a parent sells his or her daughter before she has attained majority, he or she shall be liable to punishment which may be an imprisonment for two months or a fine which may extend to Rs. 200 or both.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The evil of daughter selling has assumed dangerous proportions in Indian society and has considerably increased the number of widows in the Hindu society. This Bill provides for the protection of minor girls (a) against inequality of ages of bride and bridegroom and (b) against their treatment as commodities as opposed to human beings.

This practice is opposed to all canons of morality and the best ideas of every community. Religious organizations are all opposed to such practices.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 24th March, 1933 :—

L. A. BILL NO. 16 OF 1933.

A Bill to provide for the abolition of untouchability among the Hindus.

WHEREAS it is increasingly felt by the Hindu Community that the disabilities, which are imposed by social custom and usage on certain classes of Hindus commonly known as the Depressed Classes, and which have been in certain matters even legally recognised in the adjudication of rights and duties in civil and criminal proceedings, are repugnant to modern conditions and ideas of justice and social solidarity and should no longer be recognised by law or otherwise enforced, but should be severely discouraged; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Untouchability Abolition Act, 193 .

(2) It shall apply to the whole of British India.

Untouchability not to be recognised in law.

2. Notwithstanding anything contained in any existing enactment, regulation or order and notwithstanding any custom or usage or interpretation of law, no penalty, disadvantage or disability shall be imposed upon, or any discrimination made or recognised against, any subject of the State on the ground that such person belongs to an untouchable caste or class among Hindus, and no civil or criminal Court shall recognise any custom of untouchability or base its adjudication on such a custom.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The custom of segregation of certain Hindu Classes as outcaste and untouchable and the social and other disabilities they suffer under in consequence of such custom, have been the subject matter of universal condemnation. There has been continuous agitation on the part of leaders of these Depressed Classes as they have been commonly called, as well as on the part of reformers among the main body of Hindus to put an end to this custom of untouchability and to the disabilities arising therefrom. Recent events have brought this agitation to a head, and there is at present a great wave of feeling throughout India for the removal of the disabilities of these Depressed Classes which in the interest of humanity and general welfare advantage should be taken of by the State. It is therefore desirable that a general law should be passed prohibiting the recognition of any rights, or disabilities arising out of the usage regarding untouchability, either in civil or criminal Courts.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 24th March, 1933 :—

L. A. BILL NO. 24 OF 1933.

A Bill to amend the Child Marriage Restraint Act, 1929.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Child Marriage Restraint Act, 1929; It is hereby enacted as follows :— XIX of 1929.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Child Marriage Restraint (Amendment) Act, 193 .

Amendment of section 3, Act XIX of 1929.

2. In section 3 of the Child Marriage Restraint Act, 1929 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), after the word "whoever" the words "excepting a Hindu of the Brahmin caste" shall be inserted. XIX of 1929.

Amendment of section 4, Act XIX of 1929.

3. In section 4 of the said Act, after the word "whoever" the words "excepting a Hindu of the Brahmin caste" shall be inserted.

Amendment of section 5, Act XIX of 1929.

4. In section 5 of the said Act, after the word "marriage", where it occurs for the first time, the words "excepting that of a Hindu of the Brahmin caste" shall be inserted.

Amendment of section 6, Act XIX of 1929.

5. In sub-section (1) of section 6 of the said Act, after the word "person" the words "excepting a Hindu of the Brahmin caste" shall be inserted,

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Brahmins no doubt occupy the foremost position in Hindu society and have tried their best to follow the Shastraic principles and injunctions in their social life, usages and customs. This Act is regarded as a great invasion on immemorial customs and a severe shock to their sentiments and religion.

Marriage is a religious sacrament in the life of every Hindu. The Brahmin feels it most and is very apprehensive. The sanctity of marriage with all its attendant circumstances, once violated and disregarded and the principle once deviated, can never be maintained.

The Shastras enjoin that the attainment of puberty of a girl before marriage causes his degradation and consequently the offerings of Pinda libations of water to his ancestors which is a compulsory duty of his life become unacceptable by them.

Out of the eight kinds of marriage in Hindu society, only four kinds of marriage, such as Daiba, Prajapatya, Arsa and Bramha are approved marriages in Kali Yuga (present age).

The authorities on Hindu Law of Marriage such as Manu, Parasara, Yama, Angira, Kasyapa and the commentators like Jaimini, Bharadwaja, Aswalaqan, Sankhyan, Harihar, Gadadhar, Raj-Maratanda and others support only ante-puberty marriage which is limited to 10 years and 2 months in the case of a Kanya or bride after which a girl is called a BRUSALI. Moreover, Hindu Brahmins live not only in British India but also in the Indian States called Native States. This will cause a disruption amongst the Hindus of British India and those of Native States to which the present Act does not apply. But Hindu Law is a personal law—there cannot be any distinction between Hindu marriages celebrated in Indian States and those celebrated in British India.

The reasons of physical deterioration and educational development never applies in the case of the Brahmin, for he never allows consummation of marriage before proper growth of either his son or daughter. As head of the society he is more responsible and more careful than any one else.

These inroads of the legislature into social, personal and domestic matters are most uncalled for and more harmful to the Brahmin than to any one else.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The working of the Imperial Bank of India Act, 1920, was reviewed at length by the Indian Central Banking Enquiry Committee. The position of the Imperial Bank of India, pending the creation of the Reserve Bank and after, was also discussed by the aforementioned Committee. The pace of Indianisation of the higher personnel of the Bank, a policy to which the Government of India stand committed, was not found satisfactory by all the members of the Committee. Certain changes were also recommended by the Committee with regard to the composition of the Central Board and the Local Boards of the Bank. This Bill is mainly based on the recommendations of the Committee and seeks to remove the defects found from working of the 1920 Act.

L. A BILL No. 35 OF 1933.

A Bill further to amend the Indian Tariff Act, 1894, for a certain purpose

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Indian Tariff Act, 1894, for the purpose hereinafter appearing ; It is hereby enacted as follows — VIII of 1894

Short title

1. This Act may be called the Indian Tariff (Amendment) Act, 1933

Amendment of Schedule II, Act VIII of 1894

2. In Item No 148A of the Second Schedule to the Indian Tariff Act, 1894, after the words " Indian sheet bar " in sub-item (i) and sub-item (ii) the words and figures " imported into the United Kingdom after the 23rd day of December, 1932 " shall be added VIII of 1894.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

It has been found that the present wording of Item 148A of the Second Schedule of the Tariff Act extends the lowest preferential rate, i e , Rs 30 per ton on sheet of British manufacture rolled from Indian sheet bar, to a considerable quantity of material to which it was not intended that preference should be given The intention of this amending Bill is to make it clear that the lowest preferential rate is applicable only to sheets manufactured from Indian sheet bar imported into the United Kingdom after the ratification of the Ottawa Trade Agreement by the Indian Legislature, a result that was originally intended

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 24th March, 1933:—

L. A. BILL No. 19 OF 1933.

A Bill to amend the Child Marriage Restraint Act, 1929.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Child Marriage Restraint Act, 1929; It is hereby enacted as follows:— XIX of 1929.

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Child Marriage Restraint (Amendment) Act, 193 .

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including the British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas.

Amendment of section 1, Act XIX of 1929.

2. To section 1 of the Child Marriage Restraint Act, 1929, after sub-section (3) the following sub-section shall be added, namely:— XIX of 1929.

"(4) It shall not apply to marriages contracted or solemnised under the Muhammadan Law."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Child Marriage Restraint Act, 1929, was passed with the support of official Members in face of strong opposition from the majority of Muslim Members of the Legislative Assembly and the Mussalman public of this country. Even after its being enacted into law the Mussalmans have persistently been opposing its application to the marriages solemnised or contracted according to Muslim Shariat. The Muslims have their own codified law which has been given by the Creator himself to us and it is beyond our power to enforce such earthly laws as are contrary to His will. Marriage under the Islamic law is not only a civil contract but a sacrament. The Act of 1929 aims at making an offence of what is permissible according to Shariat, i.e., Islamic law and which the Legislature should not have tampered with. This was obviously an unwarranted and uncalled for encroachment upon the personal rights of a Muslim. The resentment and agitation over this Act among the Mussalmans is very great and unless they are excluded from its application they will continue to agitate and will never be at rest. The Islamic law is so complete in all its aspects that it is hardly necessary to amend it.

My Bill is intended to exempt the Mussalmans from the operation of that Act which has been so much resented to by the Muslims of India.

Calcutta, the 22nd May 1933.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Dacca, the 18th May 1933.

Monthly weather and Crop Report of Bengal for April 1933.

I. Character of the season.—During the month under review, the rainfall was above the normal in all the districts of the province excepting Jalpaiguri and the Cooch Behar State, where it was in defect of the normal. The usual rainfall statement is appended.

II. Progress of agricultural operations.—During the first part of the month cultivation of jute and paddy continued slowly for want of sufficient rain, but good showers during the latter part of the month facilitated the operation. Harvesting of spring crops was over.

III. State of standing crops.—The condition of jute, paddy and sugarcane improved with good showers that fell during the latter part of the month.

IV. Prospects and probable outturn.—The prospects of sugarcane and other standing crops were promising. The total outturns of wheat and different spring oilseed crops were estimated at 78 and 77 per cent., respectively, of the normal for the province.

V. Damage to standing crops.—No damage to standing crops was reported from any part of the province.

VI. Condition of agricultural stock.—The condition of agricultural stock was, on the whole, fair. Stray cases of cattle-disease were, however, reported from nine districts of the province and from the Tripura State.

VII. Failure of pasturage and fodder.—Insufficiency of fodder was reported only from parts of Dacca and Chittagong.

VIII. Prices of food grains.—During the second fortnight of the month, the retail prices of common rice of the cheapest quality rose in eleven districts, fell in four and remained stationary in the rest of the Presidency. S. N. CHATTERJI,

Deputy Accountant-General, Bengal,

Resolution on the final report on the Survey and Settlement operations in the districts of Pabna and Bogra.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

Revenue Department.

Land Revenue.

DARJEELING, THE 19TH MAY 1933

RESOLUTION—No. 226T.R

Read—

The final report on the Survey and Settlement operations in the districts of Pabna and Bogra.

Letter No. XXV-1 8013, dated the 26th September 1930, from the Director of Land Records, Bengal, submitting the report

Letter No. 624 R., dated the 3rd March 1932, from the Commissioner of the Rajshahi Division, submitting his remarks on the report.

The survey and settlement of Pabna and Bogra which are small adjacent districts were taken up as a single operation and have been dealt with in a single report. The two districts are made up of five well marked regions each differing in character from the rest.

2. The total area of the district of Pabna is 1,760 square miles and of Bogra 1,370 square miles. The area under these operations was 2,777 square miles, of which 1,442 were in Pabna and 1,335 in Bogra. Of the total area of Pabna, according to the statistics collected in this and the previous settlements 74 per cent. is cultivated and 25 per cent. is twice cropped and 13 per cent. is water and unculturable waste. The corresponding percentages in Bogra are 82, 11 and 8. The cultivated area in Bogra is high in comparison with neighbouring districts, but the percentage of twice cropped area is less than in Pabna, because the Barind tract which covers a large portion of Bogra produces little except transplanted aman paddy.

3. Both Pabna and Bogra are thickly populated districts. According to the census of 1931, the total population of the district of Pabna is 1,445,654 and of Bogra 1,086,419. It consists mainly of Muhammadans who constitute about 76 per cent. of the total in Pabna and 83 per cent. in Bogra. In the western parts of Bogra there was a considerable decline in the early part of the nineteenth century. The population of this area has however, nearly doubled since the census of 1872. In the north-west part of Bogra are found descendants of the original inhabitants of northern Bengal, the Koches, and a considerable number of immigrants from Chota Nagpur and Santals. It was found that most of the Santals had already lost the lands they once held, but in order to protect the remainder Chapter VIIA of the Bengal Tenancy Act has been extended to certain areas of Bogra.

4. Pressure on the land is heavy in a large proportion of the area. Figures collected for twelve villages in each thana go to show that in fifteen out of twenty-nine thanas more than half the raiyats hold less than two acres each and that in five thanas near Serajganj in the fertile alluvial tract along the Jamuna where the population, is over a thousand per square mile, 45 per cent. or more of the raiyats hold less than one acre each. Raiyats at fixed rents hold 5·1 per cent. of the area surveyed in Pabna and 4·7 per cent. in Bogra with rents averaging Rs. 1-14 and Rs. 2-1 per acre, respectively. The average rents of settled and occupancy raiyats were found to be Rs. 3-2 per acre in Pabna and Rs. 2-14 in Bogra. The increase in rent of raiyats in the last 130 years has been small in comparison with the rise in the price of rice Under-raiyats pay about Rs. 5-3 per acre in the Sadar subdivision of Pabna, about Rs. 8 in Serajganj subdivision and about Rs. 8-7 in Bogra.

5. Although raiyats' rents are not high, it is reported that the practice of levying abwabs in one form or another is prevalent. It is to be hoped that one of the results of the record-of-rights will be the reduction of the amount paid by tenants as abwabs.

6. About 80 per cent. of the under-raiyats in Pabna and 55 per cent. of those in Bogra were found to have rights of occupancy. Since the amendment of the Bengal Tenancy Act the position of under-raiyats including those who had not acquired occupancy rights by custom has been greatly improved. In Pabna there are few tenants on fixed produce rent, but in Bogra the number is considerable. Some of the raiyats on fixed produce rents applied for commutation which was granted in most cases. In Pabna very few bargadars have been recorded as tenants though they are numerous in that district. The question whether bargadars who were cultivating land before the amendment of the Bengal Tenancy Act, are tenants under the law as it then stood is one of fact, and it appears that a greater number of bargadars should have been recorded as tenants in Pabna.

7. The increase in revenue due to re-settlement of temporarily-settled estates and Government estates came to Rs. 59,143.

8. There were 34,775 objections under section 103 and the case work under section 105 was unexpectedly heavy, but out of 64,048 cases, 48,455 were compromised. There were 791 appeals to the Special Judges mainly in cases under section 105. It is reported that though a considerable number of suits for enhancement of rent have been filed in Pabna after the close of the operations, the number of other civil suits relating to land has decreased.

9. Cadastral survey was begun in 1920-21, but fever in the high areas and early floods in the low areas of A Block in Pabna made it impossible to complete the programme. In 1921-22 a determined attempt was made by non-co-operators to stop the settlement in B Block in Bogra and for a time they were partially successful. The disastrous floods of 1922 which swept over the western part of Bogra caused a further serious set back. The delays thus caused increased the cost of operations. Prices were high, and though there was sometimes an excess of kanungos during recess, there was a shortage at some critical periods during the field season. Further the estimated number of plots was 2,777,000 at 1,000 per square mile and of interests 694,250 at 250 per square mile, but there were actually 4,648,522 plots and 1,022,328 interests. The total cost came to Rs. 26,79,046 as against the estimated cost of Rs. 22,97,259. Having regard to the various unfortunate circumstances which impeded progress and the large excess in plots and interests the result is not unsatisfactory. The rate of recovery from landlords and tenants varied from 1-2-6 to 1-4-0 per acre and the amount due was recovered without any difficulty.

10. Mr. H. C. V. Philpot, I.C.S., was Settlement Officer except for a period of about eight months up to June 1924, and Mr. D. Macpherson, I.C.S., was then Settlement Officer up to April 1926. The late Babu Chinta Haran Das Gupta, Assistant Settlement Officer, who had served in the settlement from the beginning, was in charge during the final stages. The Governor in Council desires to place on record his appreciation of the services of these officers. Mr. Macpherson worked most creditably in bringing the settlement to a successful conclusion and has written an interesting report.

RESOLUTION.

CUSTOMS.

The 20th May 1933.

No. 30.—For the purposes of the notification No. 28-Customs, dated the 20th May 1933, the following instructions issued by the Governor-General in Council appointing the licensing authority and laying down the conditions for the grant of export licenses for tea are published for general information.

1. The licensing authority shall be a Committee, hereinafter referred to as the Licensing Committee, representative of the tea growing industry in India and shall be constituted as follows:—

One nominee of each of the following associations:—

The Indian Tea Association, Calcutta.
The Assam Branch of the Indian Tea Association.
The Surma Valley Branch of the Indian Tea Association.
The Dooars Planters Association.
The Indian Planters Association, Jalpaiguri and Tarai.

One nominee of the Darjeeling and the Tarai Planters Association.

One representative of Indian tea growing interests in the Assam Valley nominated by the Government of Assam.

One representative of Indian tea growing interests in the Surma Valley nominated by the Government of Assam.

One nominee of the United Planters Association of Southern India, representing British Indian tea estates.

One nominee of the United Planters Association of Southern India representing tea estates in Indian States.

One nominee representing Indian tea estates in South India nominated by the Government of Madras.

2. The Licensing Committee shall elect a Chairman and may appoint such sub-committees and executive officers as may be necessary for the efficient performance of the duties entrusted to it.

3. The Licensing Committee shall maintain offices in Calcutta and Coonoor for the transaction of its business and may open offices in other localities should necessity arise.

4. The Licensing Committee shall maintain a record of the yearly export quota allotted to each tea estate as determined in the manner hereafter mentioned and shall also maintain an account of all licenses issued against such quotas.

NOTE.—For the purposes of these rules a year is the period from the 1st day of April to the 31st day of March next succeeding.

5. The total yearly Indian export allotment shall be such percentage of the standard Indian export as is agreed upon by the representative committee of the Indian, Ceylon and Netherlands East Indies producers for each year of regulation and approved by the Government of India. The quantity which may be exported by sea, hereinafter called the overseas export allotment, shall bear the same ratio to India's total allotment as the standard export by sea bears to the total Indian standard export. The Licensing Committee shall not in any one year issue licenses for the export of tea in excess of this quantity.

NOTE.—The standard export is the maximum quantity exported in any one of the three years, 1929, 1930, 1931.

6. In accordance with the agreement reached by the majority of tea growers in India on the referendum issued by the Indian Tea Association and the South Indian associations, the yearly quota for each estate shall be based on the accepted maximum production of that estate in any one of the four years, 1929, 1930, 1931 and 1932, allowance being made for young tea. This maximum is termed the "crop basis." The yearly quota shall bear the same ratio to the crop basis of the estate as the total overseas export allotment bears to the total Indian crop basis. Export rights created by the allocation of a quota shall be transferable.

7. Estates which have made no return of their crop basis in answer to the referendum shall be allotted a quota calculated in the manner described in the preceding rule on production of authenticated evidence of their maximum production in any one of the years, 1929, 1930, 1931, 1932.

8. On application by a tea producer or by an exporter to whom export rights have been transferred by a producer, the Licensing Committee or the Officer empowered by it in that behalf shall issue an export license covering the quantity proposed to be exported, provided that the unexhausted quota standing in the name of the producer desiring to export or by whom the export rights have been transferred is sufficient to cover such quantity.

9. On production of a valid license in duplicate to the Customs Collector at the place of export, the Customs Collector may permit shipment of the quantity of tea covered by the license.

10. Each license shall bear the date of issue and shall be valid up to the 31st day of March next succeeding that date, provided that licenses against which shipments have not been effected prior to 31st March in any year may be exchanged not later than 14 days from the date of expiry for a special license which will be valid up to the 30th day of June next succeeding. Special licenses shall be accounted for against the export allotment of the year in which the original license was issued.

11. The records of the Licensing Committee shall be open at any time to inspection by any Officer appointed in that behalf by the Governor-General in Council.

12. The powers hereby conferred on the Licensing Committee shall be exercised, subject to the orders of the Governor-General in Council who may revise any decision of the Committee.

13. Notwithstanding anything contained in the foregoing instructions the Licensing Committee shall not, for the year ending 31st March 1934, issue licenses for a quantity in excess of the overseas export allotment for that year less such quantity as has been exported after 31st March 1933 and before 26th May 1933 and the export quota of any estate for the year ending 31st March 1934 shall be inclusive of any quantity exported after 31st March 1933 and before 26th May 1933.

ORDERED that the above Resolution be published in the Gazette of India.
